Thread: Bobby Tarantino's Introduction

Mom - November 22, 2016, 7:20 pm

Hey guys, this is just going to be a generic introduction and I thought that i'd share the story of how I came to be on here.

Well, to begin with I joined HackForums on January 19th, 2016, and my username was Tai Lopez up till last week. I chose that name because there were so many memes about the guy, I thought it was really funny to take the name on HF, and I was quite surprised that no one had taken it yet. Fast forwarding a few days later after my registration, I had no interest in hackforums, so I just stopped going on the website. Fast forward to a few months later, in November, I started to post again, because my cousin sort of motivated me to post on here (not going to say his username, but he is an ub3r), and he told me that I should post more, and here I am posting everyday, with more than 600+ posts.

I've also joined a few HF discord chats, and I've met some really cool people.

In conclusion to this thread, I wanted to make an introduction because no one really knows who I am, I just appeared from darkness is how I envision it.

Also, thanks to Sir. Concord for L33t. <3

If you have any questions, feel free to ask :)

Also I love Zetrex.

simple

just open up google search, type in "how to make garlic bread" and click search, your results show up there. 100% not a joke.
