how can you safely accept an Amazon gift card code ?

like how do you check the actual value of the card and then the "buyer" will also still have the same code though? so like what if he uses it before you do. and you already provided your services. ?

You redeem it to your account.

Its kinda hard to accept Gift Card and not have them go first or even use MM when you are offering a service as it probably can not be Middle Man'ed.

so amazon has like a virtual wallet ?

I've never really used amazon. but I'm interested in maybe accepting it as a valid payment method.

Yea, they have a gift card balance system, with which you can make payments for items.

I would only recommend taking Amazon GC's from people you deem trusted as they can be carded.
