Thread: Code Geass Season 3 Announced

Gladly - November 27, 2016, 1:27 am

Coming completely out of the blue, one of the most popular anime out there, Code Geass, is getting a third season. The article providing the information is in Japanese and it's 4am, so I'll post the best translation I can from the article which can be found here:

Code It is announced that the new animation "Code Geass Resurrection Lelouch" will be produced as a sequel to the series at "Code Geass" 10th anniversary event. According to the subtitle, that Lelouch himself is a complete sequel of the hero. A few years from zero requiem will be the stage. In addition, the theatrical version which will be a compilation from January 2017 will also be released in three part composition.

Here is the graphic seen in the article:

What do you guys think? Is a third season warranted? Would you watch it? Are you hyped?

Armady1 - November 27, 2016, 1:55 am

yeah my friends were freaking out over this sequel

Justinpk - November 27, 2016, 2:28 am

God damn it I am hyped I was so sure the announcement was gonna be a pachinko machine, holy shit this is great.

?aragon - November 27, 2016, 2:35 am omg this is the best news ever!

My favorite anime is getting another season woohooo! However, the second season had a perfect ending to the series already, so hope they don't fuck with the show in weird ways. Can't wait tho

Null - November 27, 2016, 4:00 am

Best news in a while.

I'm so fucking hyped for this.

Yuusha - November 27, 2016, 4:12 am

Very curious to see how they are going to handle it considering the way R2 ended.

Elweth - November 27, 2016, 5:26 am

Time to rewatch the entire series and its movies.

Looks like my believe that Lelouch has both Code and Geass is right.

llllllllll - November 27, 2016, 5:31 am

Wow, I've been waiting for a few years for this to happen. I'm excited!

Chips Ahoy McCoy - November 27, 2016, 5:32 am

Weird, I thought the mangaka said that Spoiler \(Click to View\)Lelouch was actually dead, and would remain dead to best fit the story.

But nonetheless, i'm hyped.

Esdese - November 27, 2016, 5:42 am

Still haven't seen this series, might as well watch it if it's good enough for a season 3

Black Hole - November 27, 2016, 7:38 am

Just saw this on FB. Their Akito series really has not impressed so I hope we can go back to the grandeur and awe of the first two season.

GroveStreetOG - November 27, 2016, 9:49 am

Code Geass is my favorite series but I am a little worried about how they gonna go through with this. The ending for R2 was amazing.....
This could either be really good or really bad.

Mafty Navue Erin - November 27, 2016, 11:47 am

Just woke up and read that on CR. I'm having a heart attack.

kpown - November 27, 2016, 11:55 am

This is fucking insane.... I really hope they don't ruin the perfection of the original 2 seasons... we can only hope the new 3rd lives up to the incredible genius of the first 2.

Aura - November 27, 2016, 2:16 pm

The original Code Geass was a masterpiece, and the way it ended was also very good. I don't know if they'll be able to make S3 as great as the 2 previous ones but I hope that they'll pull it off somehow.

DerMensch24 - November 27, 2016, 3:54 pm

I'm mixed about this. I think its great to continue the story, however I don't know if they should keep it as a canon part of the original series? Would rather see an improved side series since I'm not sure how the Akito ones fared. The original first two seasons were a complete masterpiece of both plot and detail, I'd hate to see a 3rd season (given how a lot of current anime are just average imo) ruin it. But will keep an open mind and hope that they don't kill one of my favorite anime.

Professor Pantsu - November 27, 2016, 4:15 pm

I have some mixed feeling about it getting a season 3. Code Geass was pretty fucking great and it had a perfect ending IMO. I feel like a season 3 will just screw that perfect ending up.

Varane - November 27, 2016, 4:16 pm

I loved the ending of the 2nd season, i wonder if they can keep it good enough without ruining that ending.

Pretty much the vibe I feel. I think its great for them to continue it but I don't like that it will be considered canon basically since the ending was probably the best one I've ever seen in an anime.

Maybe someone with geass powers can bring people back to life... and he just screwed up the world by getting those 2 again XD

That would make for a horrible story

JUSTIN - November 30, 2016, 12:31 pm

Actually, Lelouche isn't dead and he never died. He acquired Code (aka immortality) from Charles.

You guys are bunch of idiots. The writer did the ending on purpose and to make an opinion.

The driver of the cart was most likely up to interpretation.

This or something to do with Geass powers.
I'm really interested to see how the story is going to progress, but I doubt it's going to be any good.

This sounds like a really forced and more money-driven sequel than anything.

Honestly I don't mind, just seeing the characters in a new light gives me more than enough satisfaction. Although, I do agree that it'll be difficult for them to pull off something unique and good.

No doubt C.C gives her immortality to lelouch.

But if its true that it is 10 years after. I hope there is a romance development between C.C and lelouch o/
