

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Star Wars themed Thread Design // Rate My Work --- Smile :\)

Nevieth - December 2, 2016, 4:07 pm

It's a bit crazy, I know. I was goofing around with thread designs and decided to make one for Star Wars! With of course a theme of Boba Fett.

This was all definitely a big ol' experiment on my part.

Just tell me what went wrong, what went right, and give me some tips.

The reason I used a different font for the contact part was because the @ symbol isn't in the font pack I was using. I think it's a nice font though, and definitely fits the theme.

This thread wasn't made for any service, and only exists to be critiqued.

Thanks!

This is my third ever thread design, so go wild.

DontQQSoMuch - December 2, 2016, 4:27 pm

I think the first image looks "too peaceful" compared to the other 2

Nevieth - December 2, 2016, 4:35 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:27 PM)DontQQSoMuch Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think the first image looks "too peaceful" compared to the other 2

Duly noted! Thanks for the honest feedback. I'll try to get something less "peaceful" for my next version.

apocryphon1 - December 3, 2016, 4:07 am

I don't want to be rude or you to mean that I dislike the design generally, but everything seems kinda off the alignments are bad and text/images don't blend. Keep practicing mate. :)

Nevieth - December 3, 2016, 2:31 pm

(Dec 3, 2016 05:07 AM)apocryphon1 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't want to be rude or you to mean that I dislike the design generally, but everything seems kinda off the alignments are bad and text/images don't blend. Keep practicing mate. :)

Feedback taken, thanks.

I agree though, the alignment and spacing I used was horrendous in this design. I made this design for the sole purpose of experimenting with new methods so I could learn more, and it worked. Now I'm able to create semi-perfect fades and overlay fades (if that makes sense.)

I'll be making a new thread design sometime today or tomorrow, and I think I've figured it out. :P