

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Display the ban reason.

SIM-2273342 - December 2, 2016, 4:08 pm

Unsure of if this has been previously recommended; however, haven't seen it up here before.

Instead of constantly having to search the bans.php page in search for a specific members' ban reason, I think it'd be easier to display the ban reason directly on their account. Perhaps under the signature of the user when you arrive on their page.

If this has been recommended and rejected then I apologize, I simply feel this would be rather helpful.

Omni has responded to this with the following:

(Dec 2, 2016 05:43 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How about on the TS page instead?

I been thinking of adding something for inactive closed accounts as well. I can do a ban reason too.

Argue - December 2, 2016, 4:09 pm

This would take a lot of effort to do, so I doubt it would get implemented, but I am totally supporting this. Imagine having to ban 200 users a day and writing personal descriptions on bans for every user they banned when they could be moderating the site or doing something to improve the site. Just doesn't work like that.

minimalist - December 2, 2016, 4:12 pm

You can enable the option if you install the HF Enhancement Suite userscript.

<http://pastebin.com/EX3dWQuc>

FunctionDev - December 2, 2016, 4:12 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:09 PM)Argue Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This would take a lot of effort to do, so I doubt it would get implemented, but I am totally supporting this. Imagine having to ban 200 users a day and writing personal descriptions on bans for every user they banned when they could be moderating the site or doing something to improve the site. Just doesn't work like that.

Or do what another forum (Not going to name any names) does and just have preset answers instead of typing everything out. So say if someone is multi accounting, they click on the account, click ban, and there is a drop down box of a list of all different ban reasons, they click "Multi Accounting" and click ban and boom, there ya go.

Raz Riverblade - December 2, 2016, 4:14 pm

The ban list is short enough to Ctrl+f the user. Don't think Omni is gonna bother with this.

SIM-2273342 - December 2, 2016, 4:15 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:14 PM)?az ?riverblade Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The ban list is short enough to Ctrl+f the user. Don't think Omni is gonna bother with this.

That's a fair point. Sometimes I check the list too late though and the user is already gone.

(Dec 2, 2016 05:09 PM)Argue Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This would take a lot of effort to do, so I doubt it would get implemented, but I am totally supporting this. Imagine having to ban 200 users a day and writing personal descriptions on bans for every user they banned when they could be moderating the site or doing something to improve the site. Just doesn't work like that.

They already do type out the reasons on the ban.php page. It wouldn't be any different.

Raz Riverblade - December 2, 2016, 4:16 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:09 PM)Argue Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This would take a lot of effort to do, so I doubt it would get implemented, but I am totally supporting this. Imagine having to ban 200 users a day and writing personal descriptions on bans for every user they banned when they could be moderating the site or doing something to improve the site. Just doesn't work like that.

Mate, every ban has a ban description already. It's just nit shiwn on the profile.

Brotherhood. - December 2, 2016, 4:16 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:14 PM)?az ?iverblade Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The ban list is short enough to Ctrl+f the user. Don't think Omni is gonna bother with this.

As a user said above,it can't be enabled very easily, if so, it would be a lot Easier for everyone

SIM-2273342 - December 2, 2016, 4:18 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:12 PM)Minimalist Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You can enable the option if you install the HF Enhancement Suite userscript.

<http://pastebin.com/EX3dWQuc>

Didn't Silicon Valley backdoor his user script? I'm not tryna fuck with an outside source like that.

Mr. Robot - December 2, 2016, 4:19 pm

I think it's a good idea- I can't see the bans.php page anyhow but maybe just add it to their trust scan or something - a box at that bottom that reflects their ban reason.

The Blunt - December 2, 2016, 4:19 pm

Ban reasons are shown in MyBB. Closed reasons probably are not, and MyBB is very customization, hence the way it is here.

FiftyTwo - December 2, 2016, 4:20 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:18 PM)Romania Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Didn't Silicon Valley backdoor his user script? I'm not tryna fuck with an outside source like that.

HFES wasn't made by him?

SIM-2273342 - December 2, 2016, 4:21 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:20 PM)FiftyTwo Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) HFES wasn't made by him?

Yes, I am aware. I said HIS user script was backdoored and then when he was banned he fucked mad people over (from what I remember). It's not worth the risk, regardless of who made HFES.

minimalist - December 2, 2016, 4:22 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:18 PM)Romania Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Didn't Silicon Valley backdoor his user script? I'm not tryna fuck with an outside source like that.

The script isn't set to push updates, you're free to look through the code and inspect it for unfitting code.

FiftyTwo - December 2, 2016, 4:23 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:21 PM)Romania Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes, I am aware. I said HIS user script was backdoored and then when he was banned he fucked mad people over (from what I remember). It's not worth the risk, regardless of who made HFES.

Well, I mean, when I use anything on a PC, I do it on a VM. You could do that if you're really unsure about it.

SIM-2273342 - December 2, 2016, 4:23 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:22 PM)Minimalist Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The script isn't set to push updates, you're free to look through the code and inspect it for unfitting code.

I'm not diverse in coding; it would all be a jumble to me.

(Dec 2, 2016 05:23 PM)FiftyTwo Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well, I mean, when I use anything on a PC, I do it on a VM. You could do that if you're really unsure about it.

Fair enough, I never thought about that. I just think it'd be easier if the forum itself implemented this.

M?xim - December 2, 2016, 4:31 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:08 PM)Romania Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Instead of constantly having to search the bans.php page in search for a specific members' ban reason, I think it'd be easier to display the ban reason directly on their account. Perhaps under the signature of the user when you arrive on their page.

Why do you even need to know why people are banned? Admins/staffs/mentors are the only ones who should bother.

Omniscient - December 2, 2016, 4:43 pm

How about on the TS page instead?

I been thinking of adding something for inactive closed accounts as well. I can do a ban reason too.

minimalist - December 2, 2016, 4:44 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:43 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How about on the TS page instead?

I been thinking of adding something for inactive closed accounts as well. I can do a ban reason too.

That would work, but would it be available for everybody (as all members can access the TS) or only to Ub3r members?

SIM-2273342 - December 2, 2016, 4:50 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:43 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How about on the TS page instead?

I been thinking of adding something for inactive closed accounts as well. I can do a ban reason too.

Yeah, that'd be awesome! Whatever is easily integrated really, it is just a bit easier to access the ban reasons that way.

(Dec 2, 2016 05:31 PM)M?xim Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why do you even need to know why people are banned? Admins/staffs/mentors are the only ones who should bother.

There isn't any specific reason; in the same sense, why do the admins/staffs/mentors even type a ban reason if people don't need to know why?

Mr. Robot - December 2, 2016, 4:53 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:31 PM)M?xim Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why do you even need to know why people are banned? Admins/staffs/mentors are the only ones who should bother.

Sometimes we become good friends with no offsite contact for users that get banned. While they might have not followed the rules and deserve their removal, learning to not make the same mistakes can be helpful.

I also think it comes down to being nosy. Pentesting/Hacking in general is being nosy and most of us share that trait. Hopefully I get ub3r so I can browse the ban page but I think if you can see it on an actual page, why not make it easier to view on their profile.

-Also some people are complete cunts and deserve to be banned. If I see someone get banned that is a complete troll, then read their ban reason is something really fucking hilarious by Omniscient - I will have a beer and a laugh.

(Dec 2, 2016 05:43 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How about on the TS page instead?

I been thinking of adding something for inactive closed accounts as well. I can do a ban reason too.

I think that would be awesome on the trust scan page.

- I saw someone upgrade another user just yesterday with l33t, only to find out today that user that was upgraded was exiled hours later. It did seem like he might have been a multi or a troll from his posts but I think it would be interesting to see why he was exiled.

SIM-2273342 - December 2, 2016, 8:30 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:53 PM)Mr. Robot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Sometimes we become good friends with no offsite contact for users that get banned. While they might have not followed the rules and deserve their removal, learning to not make the same mistakes can be helpful.

I also think it comes down to being nosy. Pentesting/Hacking in general is being nosy and most of us share that trait. Hopefully I get ub3r so I can browse the ban page but I think if you can see it on an actual page, why not make it easier to view on their profile.

-Also some people are complete cunts and deserve to be banned. If I see someone get banned that is a complete troll, then read their ban reason is something really fucking hilarious by Omniscient - I will have a beer and a laugh.

I think that would be awesome on the trust scan page.

- I saw someone upgrade another user just yesterday with l33t, only to find out today that user that was upgraded was exiled hours later. It did seem like he might have been a multi or a troll from his posts but I think it would be interesting to see why he was exiled.

Omni seemed to have positive comments regarding this; we shall see what the future brings.

M?xim - December 3, 2016, 6:16 am

(Dec 2, 2016 05:53 PM)Mr. Robot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Sometimes we become good friends with no offsite contact for users that get banned. While they might have not followed the rules and deserve their removal, learning to not make the same mistakes can be helpful.

I also think it comes down to being nosy. Pentesting/Hacking in general is being nosy and most of us share that trait. Hopefully I get ub3r so I can browse the ban page but I think if you can see it on an actual page, why not make it easier to view on their profile.

-Also some people are complete cunts and deserve to be banned. If I see someone get banned that is a complete troll, then read their ban reason is something really fucking hilarious by Omniscient - I will have a beer and a laugh.

Alright, I see. And yes, some ban reasons are hilarious.

But ye, I see your points. Can also be good when reporting bans for "Weekly News".

perm - December 3, 2016, 11:20 pm

There is already a userscript for this.

SIM-2273342 - December 3, 2016, 11:21 pm

(Dec 4, 2016 12:20 AM)perm Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There is already a userscript for this.

Read all of the posts prior to sharing your opinion.

Bennynguyen100 - December 3, 2016, 11:33 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:44 PM)Minimalist Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That would work, but would it be available for everybody (as all members can access the TS) or only to Ub3r members?

I think only Upgraded members should be allowed.

Dr.Octopus - December 4, 2016, 12:18 am

Have an idea for this :

Assign codes for all available possibilities of Banning

For example :

Scam - Sc

Multi - M

So no need to type "this user scammed people, that is the reason to ban him"

Instead he can assign the value ?

Mr.Peanut - December 4, 2016, 12:22 am

(Dec 2, 2016 05:43 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How about on the TS page instead?

I been thinking of adding something for inactive closed accounts as well. I can do a ban reason too.

Trust Scans would actually be the smartest place to place it. And @ minimalist, I don't think userscripts are allowed. Maybe not heavily enforced but not allowed.

illuminati? - December 4, 2016, 12:38 am

(Dec 2, 2016 05:08 PM)Romania Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Unsure of if this has been previously recommended; however, haven't seen it up here before.

Instead of constantly having to search the bans.php page in search for a specific members' ban reason, I think it'd be easier to display the ban reason directly on their account. Perhaps under the signature of the user when you arrive on their page.

If this has been recommended and rejected then I apologize, I simply feel this would be rather helpful.

I mean its really none of our business why someone was banned. So i disagree with this idea.

scam. - December 4, 2016, 12:38 am

(Dec 2, 2016 05:08 PM)Romania Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Unsure of if this has been previously recommended; however, haven't seen it up here before.

Instead of constantly having to search the bans.php page in search for a specific members' ban reason, I think it'd be easier to display the ban reason directly on their account. Perhaps under the signature of the user when you arrive on their page.

If this has been recommended and rejected then I apologize, I simply feel this would be rather helpful.

HFES

SIM-2273342 - December 4, 2016, 4:16 am

(Dec 4, 2016 01:38 AM)illuminati? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I mean its really none of our business why someone was banned. So i disagree with this idea.

(Dec 4, 2016 01:38 AM)mael Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) HFES

Read all posts before sharing your opinion. Both of these matters have been addressed.

Mathieux68 - December 4, 2016, 2:52 pm

I would be for but it would take time to get up I pence a uh to see

HFTetramorph - December 4, 2016, 3:26 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:09 PM)Argue Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This would take a lot of effort to do, so I doubt it would get implemented, but I am totally supporting this. Imagine having to ban 200 users a day and writing personal descriptions on bans for every user they banned when they could be moderating the site or doing something to improve the site. Just doesn't work like that.

How would this take a lot of effort to do? It's a simple query for the latest ban reason on the user's ID. It's rather simple actually. The hardest part would be formatting, which isn't really that hard either. Sure it takes time that could be spent elsewhere, but I do really support this idea. It also improves the "flow" of ban checking.

Wakka - December 4, 2016, 4:47 pm

(Dec 2, 2016 05:43 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How about on the TS page instead?

I been thinking of adding something for inactive closed accounts as well. I can do a ban reason too.

I see no reason why not, this would be a welcomed addition to the forums.