

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: 1st ever vector art

Colon.y - December 4, 2016, 8:12 am

I know its a bit bland and not much detail in the picture as I tried and I couldn't make it look good or decent, but this is my 1st ever vector art.

Can you kindly rate this and link me any good videos to watch on improving my vector art.

image - <https://imgur.com/WBgE7qw>

Neos07 - December 4, 2016, 8:13 am

Fix:

Code [img]<https://i.imgur.com/WBgE7qwg.png>[/img]

Nyxuo - December 4, 2016, 8:17 am

Is it only supposed to be this portion or is this the whole piece? It looks like it's pop art inspired. I don't mind it at all maybe all I can suggest is trying to use smooth curves. Around the right side and bottom left side of the eyebrow you can see the curve goes off a little. Also if you're going to get into portrait vectoring, there's tons of tutorials online just find one that complements the style you're going for or you'd like to achieve and practice. You're off to a good start in my opinion. Color selection is good, maybe the eyelash could use some more detailing or a little more added to it since the lashes looks a little plain coming off such a large solid object... My two cents.