Nuworld - December 5, 2016, 6:23 pm

Information

They Shall Mount Up With Wings As Eagles; They Shall Run, And Not Be Weary; They Shall Walk, And Not Faint.

Leadership

I have an extra leaders spot I'm willing to give to the right contestant, Winner.
I will be giving this leadership spot away for free.
This is a 500-600$ spot in the Enigma group.
No strings attached and you will have full leadership Privileges with in the Enigma group.

The rules for this giveaway are easy.

I'm looking for new ideas.
Someone that can be creative and be very active on a daily basis.
Someone that can bring new ideas to the group and make them happen.
Someone that can keep the group busy and active.

If this is you

Then post here why you believe you deserve this spot.

I will be the only leader of Enigma that will choose the winner of this contest.

(Note; If anyone sends me or any other leader/Owner of Enigma a PM asking about this free giveaway) You will be disqualified.

Please post your questions here in this thread.

Of course the winner of this leadership spot giveaway will need to be approved by zSerity

Good luck and have fun.

Are there any 'catches' on being a leader such as "You need to be upgraded" or similar?

I'm not entering but im asking as I can see more people wonder this

Riyu - December 5, 2016, 6:28 pm

I believe I would be great for this as I'm really active and I could provide a positive mindset :)

grail - December 5, 2016, 6:28 pm

Hello.

I am a very active member as I am on many hours of the day.

I am currently in the process of starting up a couple business ventures with my boy heartthrob that he can vouch for.

I enjoy bring new ideas to the table and am willing to work with others to bring success to the group and the reputation of the group.

Like I said, I can bring my extreme activity to the group along with my charismatic personality.

I am extremely interested in this position as it would be a great opportunity to lead.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Brotherhood. - December 5, 2016, 6:29 pm

I believe I could do this, as I'm very friendly, very active and I'm great at making conversation with people :). I am also very good at thinking of new great ideas, and would love to be apart of this group. Would also be hosting multiple group activities to keep the group together and active. I have a good feeling about this :)

minimalist - December 5, 2016, 6:30 pm

I would go for this but my brain is devoid of any sensible ideas. Good luck to the person who gets this.

Egregious Jr. - December 5, 2016, 6:31 pm

I'm a very active member who always wanted to lead a group. Thanks for reading. ?

Parks - December 5, 2016, 6:34 pm

This seems like more of an application really, regardless interested. What's Enigma's goals and basis at the moment?

No! you do not need to be upgraded.
Just be creative and have ideas.
Know how to keep the group active with new ideas.

?Shady - December 5, 2016, 6:40 pm

Y'all should hook me up with this leadership spot. Allow me to explain why & give a pretty good idea of what I want to plan.

Lets start off by saying that obviously some other members are more 'reputable' to get this spot but I would consider myself one of the most creative. I would like to open up quite a few different sectors that will give Enigma a great group reputation here on HF. In these sectors that I have in mind to open, I will only be recruiting the most deserving & creative members of this community to show HF why Enigma's sectors will be the best out of the other groups. I plan on expanding this group to be more than just a group on HF. I would like to expand our outreach to the internet in general & have the name Enigma well respected in many different communities. This doesn't apply to just forums, what I mean by this is for example; gaming community, business community, music community, etc.

I believe I can help Enigma sufficiently improve across all sectors. We will be one of the most HQ groups out there & be providing nothing but HQ activity from our sectors. Thank you for reading this & I hope you take this into consideration. If you would like anymore information on my plans for this group if selected, then feel free to send me a PM.

Essence - December 5, 2016, 7:01 pm

I don't think I should be a leader, but if somehow in some way shape or form I was chosen out of everyone I would say that I am a fun person to talk to and have a conversation with. I am not super serious but can be serious if it's needed. I like to mess around and have a good time. I think I am educated enough to handle a good amount of people within a group and not only bring new ideas to the group but also continue to grow the group to its full potential =)

SIM-2059193 - December 5, 2016, 7:03 pm

you're joking right?

You're writing like a paragraph to apply to a group with a leadership spot for 500-600$ and all you have to do is write about what kind of idea's you have? The posts on this thread is a joke and i hope that whoever is accepted puts more effort into their application.

Read the thread!!

This is no joke.

I own two leaders spot in Enigma.

I'm giving one away for free.

Is that too hard to understand?

Just search and see how many leaders of groups are selling their spots.

I'm doing this for free

This opportunity doesn't happen everyday.

BR?ND?N - December 5, 2016, 10:35 pm

I have committed myself fully to HF since joining. I have done giveaways, upgraded users, and have tried to help every user I possibly could along my way. By becoming leader of Enigma I'd devote my full time to helping the group become the greatest HF group of all time. I truly mean that.

I have been a leader in many instances of my life. From websites, to groups, to teams, I enjoy helping a group of people reach goals. Enigma is a great group, but it can become even greater. I strongly believe that by making me a leader of Enigma, you'll be making the right choice going forward.

I always have ideas bouncing around, and I'm a very group oriented person. I will listen to each and every member's opinions and push to get what they want done. Becoming a leader of Enigma would be one of the highest honors I could achieve on Hack Forums and I appreciate you considering me.

I will not let you down.

Muddy Waters - December 5, 2016, 10:38 pm

I'd bring light back to HF, offer countless acts of selfless service and treat everyone as in my terms as a unit in the military with respect and will grow in the ranks to show their true potential on this forum.

To be a leader you must step up and show them.
I can show you if you allow, if not please don't hesitate to over look my actions.

Thank you for this opportunity and reading.

But here's some bragging rights, I am part of the 1% of the US population to be in the United States Army.

Loving every bit of it !

Vince - December 6, 2016, 10:42 pm

I do have a lot of previous experience in running communities like this. I helped develop and main the gaming website <http://www.nextgenupdate.com/forums/> before stepping down last year. I do not care about money or trying to make money or any of those things. I think this would finally give me purpose and a want to actually be active. I love leading things like this, brainstorming with others to push activity and generally have fun. A lot of these current ones from what I have seen is that the leaders get set on a vision, and don't bother including the actual members within those decisions. So as these things change, members lose interest, it drops activity and then a likely rebrand happens. The only groups I have seen that actually did these things were Red Lions and Instinct. And it kept them active within their SF and throughout the forums. A lot of group owners from what I have seen had gotten stubborn to certain things, and I can see why, to a point, because of the money investment.

As far as vision, I'd want to brainstorm with the members, get some suggestions and opinions on what they currently dislike, what they would like to see within the group or added to it, and bounce those ideas off other leaders. These groups are supposed to be community driven, and there is no better way than actually including the members themselves. I'd also like to take a look at a variety of members. From Blackhats to Gamers. Coders to Marketers. I know it is a bit of a long process, but instead of mass recruiting, I'd want to hand pick the best ones from around the forums. The mass recruitments seem to bring a variety of trolls and inactive people after awhile. With that being said, I do not mean sectors in the slightest. You pull vision from what part of the group and put it in another, you kill the one that isn't being paid attention to.

Evanescence - December 6, 2016, 11:01 pm

I am very active on this forum, so it's certain that I will be active in the group too.
If I'll be the leader, I'd convert or share ideas to earn money from altcoin trading.
We can all pump and dump for profits. Clear and straight with my idea.

This will be the exact thing that will happen if I'll be the leader.
Thank you.

Well I'm not 100% sure what Enigma is all about. I'd have to be in the group to be able to check it out and try to formulate new ideas.

But in all of the groups I've been in, I've always had ideas to make the group better and stand out more than it already does. I don't want to make this entry a huge essay to read lol but I feel like I'd be a great leader and can definitely bring new ideas to the table :)

Mutes - December 7, 2016, 5:28 pm

Wow. This seems great.

I'm active a lot. I haven't been recently because I have a lot going on, but being leader I'd have to be active. I'm really funny and guarantee I'd entertain the whole group. I've had so many ideas for things to do within a group before but none have ever come through. Never had the chance to lead a group, but it would be cool to do it.

I'm creative and can come with ideas quickly.

You need new, creative and innovating ideas I hear?

Introducing myself, Cringe.

I'm gonna be straight up, I am quite the honest guy if I must say so myself.

I come forward with any mistakes, errors or issues that I have caused and apologize, I come forward with ideas and I share them straight up with the leader of whatever it is I'm partaking with.

I'm your simple person, I enjoy life, playing games, taking part in activities with my family -- However on the internet, doing my best to make money and slowly build myself a better future. (I know settle down, I'm getting a job)

Anyways, back on me being an honest guy...

There are way too many good words being said on this thread, someone else who is worthy deserves the position as leader on this group, someone who is more innovating, straight up, honest, loyal, trustworthy and diligent.

So, I'm not going to be bothered to post my real entry.

Sorry for wasting your time.

Good day and good luck to applicants.

Crystallize. - December 8, 2016, 1:52 am

I'm pretty good when it comes to managing things + I'm pretty active in HF and I can do some good things with the group.

Saint - December 8, 2016, 5:39 am

First of all you spelled zSery's name wrong.

Second, i believe i would be a good person for the spot because i feel like i am a leader.

I always try to get out the best of everything. Out of the members and our products and just what we stand for in general.

I do have some idea's that could help us gain some popularity on the forum and just create a healthy enviroment for the group itself.

Maybe some products to push out, it all depends on what the group stands for and i will adjust to that.

I personally am very interested in psychology, cryptology and stenography.

I am pretty active around the forum and i am always open to gaining knowledge, and sharing what i learned.

If you have some questions or just want to know some things about me in general you can always PM me.

What i know for sure is that if i would be given this oppertunity that i would try my best to be what is needed.

Durham - December 8, 2016, 11:42 am

I've been on HF for a pretty long time, my dream is to own my own official group but to do that you need a lot money which I dont have. And to purchase a leader spot you need around 500$-1000$ and that is pretty much too for me.

I want the leader spot because that is on my to do list on HF and I have some plans for the group too.

Larceny - December 8, 2016, 11:44 am

I'd be astounded to get to be in this position.

I've co-leadad a group kinda, so I have a little bit of experience haha.

Hope to get this.

First off I just want to thank you for the opportunity. It really is so kind of you to offer a leadership place for free. I think it also suggests that this group is different from some of the ones I have seen recently (Paid opportunities etc).

Introduction:

I think when applying for a leadership position, it is important to get to know the person who is applying. My name is Danny, I'm 21 years old and from Ireland. I'm currently half way through my third year of university, studying Computer Forensics and Security and soon to be working as a Software Development Intern in January.

Some of the things that I enjoy doing as hobbies are gaming, learning new things and watching sport. I pride myself on being a loyal person and it is something that's very important to me. With loyalty comes trust and I feel the two go hand and hand, and it's something I excel at.

Why me?:

I guess the real question is why would you pick me? That's a tough one to say when you're talking about yourself and as far as an idea goes for the group, I'm always willing to share my thoughts and opinions on something but it easier to do so when talking to others and I think that it is important to talk through with other people.

Now onto the things that I will bring to the table if you pick me. Although it may not seem it from my post activity, I'm actually very active on Hack Forums registering 5 Months online time recently. I think activity isn't all about posting (It is part of it though for sure) but I can assure you that I will be dedicated and hardworking to the cause.

I have been on Hack Forums for over 5 years. This is important because I know how groups operate and how Hack Forums itself operates. Over my 5 years I have been in many different groups that I'm not sure you'll care about so I will not list them. From this I have gained insight into what works in groups and what doesn't. This helps to formulate my own ideas and give feedback on other peoples ideas also.

I'm hardworking. I'm willing to put effort into something to make it a success. This can be seen from some of my contributions to Hack Forums over the years that you can see here:HF Past to Present: A HF Timeline \(Last Update: 11/30/16\)

Where to start in Programming | A Guide

The basics to beginner hacking

HF Links

These are just examples of the hardwork. I have wrote countless articles for the HF Wiki also as well as many other things over my 5 years here.

Some ideas?:

I think it is important of me to show that I can think of ideas for the group but I really do think that it would be beneficial to run any of these by everyone before implementing (Unless it's just a sector that is being run).

I have recently seen a surge of student programs that have been attempted by different groups. I feel like this is something I really like the idea of but I feel they are not being run properly in a lot of cases. A lot of them are paid which I disagree with, this is a hacking forum. People are here to learn, why not allow them to learn from some of the best on the site for free? I think this does have great potential (as can be seen by the success of MRT) but a lot of groups try to do these things too quickly. No one can learn a whole course in 2 weeks, it is just not possible. The way to do this in my opinion is to start with one or 2 subjects and have them constantly flowing (Difficult courses that students would have to spend a lot of time on but in the end would be pretty knowledgable about the subjects). The teachers are hugely important to the success of something like this because they both have to want to teach and also be able to help other people out with the problems that they run into. Also more importantly, they have to be extremely knowledgable about a subject and that is something I think I can vet for. I think both teachers and students should have to sit some form of entrance exam (Teachers to see if they know what they are talking about. Students to see what level they are at) and this will help to see where the program stands.

This is just a sample idea and if you guys have any ideas you'd like to hit me up with I'd be happy to give my opinion on what I think of them. Just to show that I have been thinking of ideas for as long as I've been on hackforums, here's a thread I made discussing a group idea nearly 3 years ago (I don't really like the idea anymore): <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4079310>

Just another sample idea (I think it might be hard to implement) would be to teach 'students' to improve as members here on Hack Forums. I think it should be set to improve them as a forum member overall. Teach them how to make better threads, avoid getting scammed. One thing you could do as an example would be to teach them how to catch multi-accounters. One way you could do this is to simply inform them about the most common ways they get caught (posting the same skype on 2 different accounts things like that). This isn't very fleshed out but just an idea I had a while back.

Let me know what you think of some of these. Thanks for your time and I really appreciate the opportunity.

Also more importantly, they have to be extremely knowledgable about a subject and that is something I think I can vet for. I think both teachers and students should have to sit some form of entrance exam (Teachers to see if they know what they are talking about. Students to see what level they are at) and this will help to see where the program stands.

This is just a sample idea and if you guys have any ideas you'd like to hit me up with I'd be happy to give my opinion on what I think of them. Just to show that I have been thinking of ideas for as long as I've been on hackforums, here's a thread I made discussing a group idea nearly 3 years ago (I don't really like the idea anymore): <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4079310>

Just another sample idea (I think it might be hard to implement) would be to teach 'students' to improve as members here on Hack Forums. I think it should be set to improve them as a forum member overall. Teach them how to make better threads, avoid getting scammed. One thing you could do as an example would be to teach them how to catch multi-accounters. One way you could do this is to simply inform them about the most common ways they get caught (posting the same skype on 2 different accounts things like that). This isn't very fleshed out but just an idea I had a while back.

Let me know what you think of some of these. Thanks for your time and I really appreciate the opportunity.

This is what I'm looking for.

Very well written and to the point.

Has ideas and goals.

Good job Revenge.

Crowleys Creativity Entry

Why do i deserve this spot?

I deserve it because im filled with dedication, loyalty, trust, and fun.

I would make an amazing difference and I would bring in all the perks you want as a leader, I have so many ideas I don't even know what to do with them!

I would make sure the rules are to be followed, I would bring so many ideas for this team, I would bring motivation, I would bring my heart sweat and soul into this group like you've never seen before.

I want to have an opportunity and I want to make a difference no matter how big or small.. I am very active, I can make ideas happen.. Most of all the group will remain busy every day, every second, every mili-second. I will make sure that I bring my A-game to this position and not fail you, and I'll make sure that I don't fail you in any way shape or form.!

Note: will edit this once I get home

Hey man im running a magic show, so i am pretty creative.. if you want some of that dazzling mind reading levitation thoughts and out of the box ideas im your guy!

Linecatcher - December 10, 2016, 4:39 am

This sounds like a great opportunity!

Nuworld - December 11, 2016, 7:28 pm

I will be closing this contest in 5 days.

I currently have 5 members that are in consideration for this giveaway.

I would like to see ideas!! to make this group great, not why you think you might deserve this spot and or how active you are.

Ideas is the key here, and can you make it happen?

w?????illiam???? - December 11, 2016, 7:30 pm

I can motivate our members, and maybe host some giveaways for the group. I can promote the group and make us a well respected group.

LastSession V - December 12, 2016, 3:47 pm

I would like this. Simple as that haha.

Thornzzz - December 12, 2016, 3:51 pm

Hi, I'm Thornzzz, I'm already a members of the group and friends with everyone in the group. I feel like I have several ideas for the group that can include boosts to activity, member base and the sub-forum. I would like to try and restart the activity and push it to levels that would be 100x the levels that they are now. And, I feel like as a leader working with all the other leaders together we could easily achieve this. If you give me this opportunity I promise we will achieve a better group and a great goal. Also, for some quick ideas I think topics that we can all relate too and post on should be talked about in the SF and maybe some more things open to the public such as giveaways and help desks etc.

Engima should have an "Anonymity" sector in their group. Something to do with doxing would be nice in my opinion. I would suit this role perfectly.

V?rt - December 14, 2016, 7:05 pm

Hi, My name is Starved, or Logan. I believe that I am qualified for this leadership spot. I devote around 5 a day to being on Hackforums and trying to help and communicate with everybody. I understand that Enigma is a group that strives to be based on comradery and sharing experience and thoughts. That is exactly the group that I would wish to join, and even better, be a leader in. Although I am 18 years old, I have insane dreams and ideas that I strive to achieve. I have been in many groups before and have always lead a movement within the group. I have a passion for inventing and being creative. That is why I think I am qualified for this spot and should be a new enigma leader.

Danny Khalifa - December 15, 2016, 7:36 pm

I think I can make a great job with this group.
I got tons of ideas which can lead to be group projects for the community.

Also I am really active and always trying to help everyone.

Thank you very much for doing this.
Good luck to everyone!

Katarina Du Couteau - December 16, 2016, 1:11 pm

I was in Enigma for a while and I liked it.
Id be honoured to lead this Group!

Im active and I have a lot of Ideas :)

EIDoc - December 16, 2016, 4:31 pm

Bro, seriously hit me up right now, I can handle it!

Nuworld - December 16, 2016, 6:28 pm

This contest is now closed.

I will be in contact with the ones that had the best ideas.

Thank you all for your input and good luck.
