

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Currency Exchange Policy

Omniscient - December 11, 2016, 2:16 pm

All exchanges and trades involving gift cards, cryptocurrency, or fiat must be in Currency Exchange forum.

The CE section is also now moved from being a subforum of the Secondary Sellers to Premium Sellers Section.

I'll do my best to close all existing Trader Topics that are CE in nature.

Any new threads violating the policy will result in the thread being junked and the member warned or banned.

This step was necessary to clean up the TT forum since it has become nothing but a Secondary CE and has lost its original intent.

Thank you.

Saint - December 11, 2016, 2:18 pm

Can't say I'm surprised, it was indeed losing its original use. Hopefully people can follow the rules and post in the correct section from now on.

SIM-403479 - December 11, 2016, 2:20 pm

This was definitely needed.

Traders topic was just used by people who couldn't post in the CE section.

Confound - December 11, 2016, 2:25 pm

Quick clarification question - luckily I am not affected, but for members who wish to sell gift cards that are not Ub3r, are they no longer able to do that, or is there a place for them?

Trump_Clinton - December 11, 2016, 2:27 pm

(Dec 11, 2016 03:25 PM)Confound Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Quick clarification question - luckily I am not affected, but for members who wish to sell gift cards that are not Ub3r, are they no longer able to do that, or is there a place for them?

I'm going to assume they can sell them to ub3rs requesting to buy them in their CE threads?

Omniscient - December 11, 2016, 2:27 pm

(Dec 11, 2016 03:25 PM)Confound Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Quick clarification question - luckily I am not affected, but for members who wish to sell gift cards that are not Ub3r, are they no longer able to do that, or is there a place for them?

Yes, all Gift Cards now must be in CE.

SIM-403479 - December 11, 2016, 2:27 pm

(Dec 11, 2016 03:25 PM)Confound Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Quick clarification question - luckily I am not affected, but for members who wish to sell gift cards that are not Ub3r, are they no longer able to do that, or is there a place for them?

It appears they are unable to do this.

They could find an ub3r who is wanting to buy gift cards though. They just can no longer post in the section.

EDIT: You just got three answers within seconds lol

M?xim - December 11, 2016, 4:25 pm

Sounds like a good move. Collecting all those things in one subforum, cleaner.

Description - December 11, 2016, 4:28 pm

Nice to see you cleaning up the forum. This was needed, thanks.

Pittinger - December 11, 2016, 8:36 pm

Do I just PM a Staff member to have my thread moved?

I like this change, I was getting annoyed by the cross posts.

grail - December 11, 2016, 8:37 pm

Thanks for this omni

You do a great job around here you know

???? - December 11, 2016, 8:38 pm

Looks good. Prem needed another SF :)

?Dominate - December 11, 2016, 8:38 pm

Thanks for the heads up, will be closing my thread soon.

Academy Awards - December 11, 2016, 8:39 pm

This was definitley needed, so many scammers and carders. Maybe DD won't be as packed!

Punisher - December 11, 2016, 11:08 pm

Seems like a nice change of policy, the traders section was pretty bad there for a while.

I reported a few threads as "wrong forum" when I saw them, but there were so many that it wasn't worth the time to report them.

I was concerned that this move would have meant that non-upgraded threads would have been pushed over into the premium section allowing for non-upgraded members to bump their thread and still retain it in that section, but after going through a large majority of the threads this doesn't seem to be the case. Did you purge the section of non-upgraded member threads or something?

Kill Joy - December 11, 2016, 11:16 pm

Also a nice change as the CC forum gets a lot of those threads.

Good change in policy, thanks.

05317832892 - December 11, 2016, 11:57 pm

Thanks on this one. Helps compact all the relevant threads into one section. No need to go searching around to find the best rates, now they are all in one place.

Black Shadow - December 15, 2016, 8:40 pm

Yes nice change this was needed.

Jesus Loves You - December 15, 2016, 8:51 pm

Another perk of being ub3r... I felt left out in this thread haha. Puts alot of pressure, especially when you think it's only $25. I'll look forward to applying, are there any tips to maximize my chances? It seems if you blow it takes a long time to.. unblow it.