Thread: Biggest PayPal Goof

VirtualFrost - December 13, 2016, 8:24 am

I just tried buying something through PayPal, I also had a VPN on connected to France, I'm currently holidaying in America, and I live in Australia. PayPal limited my account for obvious reasons(On a VPN making a purchase) and I cannot receive an SMS to get it instantly unlimited, so now I have to wait 2 days because uploading documents is all I can do.

GG me, be smart when buying kids.

If you call them up immediately after you have submitted your documents a live representative will check it whilst on the phone to you and give you a direct answer.

Oh really? I might do that if I get a chance later today. I'm just happy I don't use PayPal daily.

Something I've learned today, as much as people bash PayPal, I called them up, and they gave the best and quickest support. I got my account un-limited within minutes, and he was real helpful.

Lesson learned, check to make sure you don't have a VPN enabled when making payments lol
