Thread: Eclipse - Member of the Year 2016

Views - December 13, 2016, 9:06 am

Welcome to the Member of the Year voting thread for 2016!

Eclipse Member of the Year is a competition that awards one special member for their contributions throughout the community. Every member has the potential to win the award, but the final decision is made by the combined efforts of the Hack Forums user base.

One special member will win our Member Of The Year contest and with it a Official Hack Forums award:

The finalists have been chosen! The Voting phase begins today and ends on Friday, December 30th, 2016!

This is your chance to determine who wins the award. You may only vote for one person, so make your vote count! Feel free to post in this thread noting your reason for your vote, if you'd like.

Member of the Year Rules

You are not allowed to ask other members to vote for you. Members in the poll are not allowed to link to the poll at all; this is seen as hinting at or asking for votes. Any such attempts will get you permanently blacklisted from entering any Eclipse events.

Members who are not in the MOTY competition cannot ask for votes on nominees' behalves. Members cannot intentionally ask for votes on behalf of a nominee with the intention of forcing their disqualification or ban from the contest. Users who are guilty of this will also be blacklisted from Eclipse events. The nominees themselves, however, will not be reprimanded unless they instigated or asked other users to create such threads or content.

Members cannot use on-site or off-site media (private messages, public threads or group forums) to ask for votes, either on their own or on someone else's behalf. Members cannot advertise nor link to the MOTY competition in their signature if they are in the competition. Other members can link to the poll thread (in signatures, avatars, usertitles or posts), but they are not allowed to advertise nor harm another member in doing so. Links to the poll thread must link to the OP, and not to another post supporting or detracting from a nominee.

Other users cannot create threads (public or private) to encourage voting for another member. Users are not allowed to spam chat services or lounge threads to get people to vote for a given user.

Vote in the poll for one of the following members:

Reason: I'll be truthful - I feel a bit odd nominating myself, and I truly do not want to feel self-important at all by doing so. The only reason I am doing so is because new custom awards do not come very often, so I thought I'd give it a shot. Thus, I apologize in advance for nominating myself. I know I am fully in my boundaries to do so, but it felt a bit bizarre. Anyways continuing onwards, I have joined HF just over a year ago and I care very much about the website as well as the community. I led Apex for several months, donated quite a bit of money, and have participated in a variety of different subforums throughout HF both in and out of the marketplace. I learned a lot from HF over the past year and have developed a lot of close relationships with lots of different people. I've always been interested in continuously giving back to the community as much as I am able to. Since being in the Red Lions, I have been making efforts continue doing so but on a higher level. I have been working on several guides that will be released in the coming weeks that will hopefully help several users. I do my best to remain as HQ as possible as I conduct myself through Hack Forums. Hopefully these contributions and my carefully written posts and threads show that. Thanks.

Reason: I have spent a long time on here since joining, being around 50% online time compared to my join date - during this time I have helped as many users as I can through posts, teamviewer, PM, voice communication and general support. I have donated what I can to others when I can even though I don't have much to give and always help those who need it without a cost.

I try to ensure everyone has an equal opportunity to join in on discussions, not ignoring someone due to their join date or upgrade status - I encourage others to better themselves and I only ask in return they try and pay it forward one day by treating others the same.

I have many new tutorials coming out soon with tools and hardware hacking through to creating AI interfaces and neural nets. I would like the award as I believe I can represent it in the best light possible and it will only make me want to put even more into contributions. I love the forum and love the community and I appreciate what you do on here too Views.

I have caught many scammers who were dealt with offsite which earned the spooky award, and I still continue to do so - I think it's wrong and I encourage others to not stand by and let people get away with it.

I come on Hackforums to learn and share and that's what I will continue to do for as long as I am here - I have only been here a year and a half but in that time have done everything I can to benefit others.

I can't do money/material giveaways unfortunately but I am here to stay and here to share.

Best of luck to all those who are nominated Cheers.

He makes awesome fan art

Reason: He is passionate for graphics design, looking at Omni, Minimalist, xadamxk, my own, and many others avatars, you can see that he is good at it as well. Novica have made so much for this forum that we users are not aware of, I happen to know a few things but that is only because I chat with him sometimes. Let's have a look at Hackforum's official avatar gallery, some entire galleries are made by Novica himself. Then not only that, Omni is a webmaster and not a gfx master, so occasionally he asks help from Novica and he gladly helps him out.

Not only that, just like any admin, staff or mentor, he does a lot of work as a mentor that we users does not really notice. So, considering how much he does for this forum, seen and unseen, that is why I nominates him for the award. He does work for Omni, us, and HackForums in general, I never see him ask for things in return, so it is time.

May the best member win!

I'm on no ones side but in my opinion you should change on Brusk's and Night Furry's entries "Link 1" to the thread title. A lot of people could be too lazy to actually click on all the threads, it might be a disadvantage for them. It's your contest, just a suggestion.

Lol I didn't really give away too much this year. And I couldn't be nominated anyways haha.

But yea I completely agree. Stickied threads, free tutorials, pretty much anything helpful that took the user time out of their day to write are definitely worth more than money/award giveaways.

rigged is a bold word that I won't be giving any feedback on. I will say that I personally do not believe the "most deserving" member will win the contest. I say this for 2 reasons.

1. The user who is most deserving cannot honestly be measured as there are a lot of behind the scene things which leaves some users in the dark.
2. The voting system plus stickied thread makes this a popularity contest.

idk that's just me though.

I respect the award, I respect the contest hosted by views and it's amazing being a part of this contest. I'm in no way complaining.

I have decided a new way to judge this, although I won't be sharing the exact way publicly cause if I do it will allow more members to cheat.

I like Mr.Peanut and he seems to be a high quality member who a lot of you like although I noticed from last night when we had 120 votes Mr.Peanut had 11 votes where as I woke up today and he gained from 11 --> 28

Hash G was in 2nd and in that time he gained only 2 votes, I find it extremely hard to believe someone gained more votes in 12 hours then they gained in the start of the compitetion where as also in that time, 18 votes were recorded for Peanut which was more then any other contestant combined.

I also received a complaint around him on site, from someone who voted for him.

I understand and I did think you were accusing me - but I see now you were just pointing out that if it can happen for me, it could happen at a different time of the day for yourself.

I really really appreciate what views is trying to do, it's just unfortunate that right now there are people who didn't nominate other people and certain people who think the entire thing is biased.

That's like saying Donald Trump came back from the popular vote and being disqualified because of a number gain.

I received a screenshot from skype, of you sending someone a privnote asking them to vote for you, you and this member have each other positive repped back and forth (showing you don't hate each other) he also asked that he wasn't named as you are helping him out, this is one of your voters other then Chase who commented on the thread.

there is 7 contest entries, you gained more votes while I was asleep then any other contestant combined with a total of 18.

I get that you have your supporters and all that but the fact that you would gain more then any other contestant combined while I was gone, on top of that being more votes then what you had when I left, where as the 2nd place and 1st place members combined gained less votes then what you had near the bottom of the poll when I went to sleep is very odd.

I understand people aren't going to agree with me, although in no way will I be adding you back to the poll.

- You're the one who dropped $1,000+ on an award, I don't blame you wanting it to go to someone more deserving and less popular.

- And this was on my skype? This could easily be faked, I could just as easily fake a skype of someone else and send a priv note (not that I would, nor do I have any intentions). Who would of known it'd be this easy to get competition out of the way.

- I don't know your timezone man, who said i'm attempting to go behind your back when you're sleeping? Even if you're supposed to be asleep, you could be one of those guys who pulls all nighters when you should be up. Again, this is out of my control.

- There are thousands and thousands of HF users on at at times of the day. You messaged Chase and (idk who else) asking if I asked to vote.

Lastly:

- I can release some screenshots myself of members asking me why Views asked if I contacted them to vote for me. You're fishing for something and found nothing. You found what you consider a technicality and eliminated me out of it.

This is another thing. I've done a LOT of consistant business with users who are from Australia, India, and Asian countries. I've given a lot of new and up and coming members the chance and have rewarded them well (on projects). I can see users in that time zone would vote for me. Just another side note.

(Dec 14, 2016 10:09 AM)xadamxk Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That is exactly what I meant by buying votes.

This isn't an election.

It's a poll to see who contributed the most/best for the community.

Poll was deleted 30 minutes ago lmao.

You need to catch up before you start throwing sand dude.

You must take into consideration that:

- "best for the community" (best) is opinionated.
- "most" is subjective, and not really measurable in perfect standards as too many real world factors have not enough common denominators.

Hence the poll system. This is why MOTM, MOTY, and this award has/had polls. Users are choosing who they believe, just like an election happens (we vote for who we think is most fit for the award). Coder people might vote Mr.Robot while GFX people might vote Novica, while lounge and business people will vote me. Just an example man.

This thread is for Member of the Year, this is somewhat of a big deal. Every member has the right to post there feedback on this thread. On top of that, Omni accidentally deleted the poll and other controversial things are happening.

Everyone here knows it's his award. But he wants to make this fair, people are stating their opinion on what should be done to make it just. Things are looking very fishy at this point and it's ruining the contest as a whole from perspective and 2 VERY HQ and deserving members dropping.

I do a lot more behind the scenes than in the spotlight. I'm sure there's other nominated members who do more though, so I can't really talk. I agree.

It's like obvious that Mr. Robot will win because he's always doing public things etc for everyone to see.
Not that, that's bad at all..

But with it being a public poll, most of the public would vote for him because that's what they see.

I will admit, I did have a comeback or so it seemed. Who knows what the outcome would of been (with the time frame the contest lasted).

Since Mr.Robot is on the polls still but formally dropped out, I wonder if he'll accept the award if he wins.

I think that we all know the answer to that question.

Honestly I was hoping views wouldn't re add the poll and just use another voting method (ask mentors, staff and well known members to vote) but it's his group and his award so in the end it's his call.

why not just close this and decide who you want to have the award, regardless of their contributions etc.

you don't have to make it complicated by claiming people are cheating because they got 18(!!!!) votes in 8 hours

I agree with this, but it's hard to make this fair.
Maybe instead of nominees they could have said their own 10+ contributions and something about them self. But even then the most active person (Mr. Robot) would have the edge.

I still think this is fair and Views should do this like he wants because can give the award away.
Maybe he can change it up for next year if he like to do another MOTY.

I was wondering this too, but I don't know. When you spend $1,000+ on a custom award and things don't go as planned, I'd probably want to try to make this seem as legit as it can be on the outside too.

I'm not jabbing at how official this contest is, rather how shit it's become and how it should still look decent because of what it is conceptually.

I don't wanna start an argue but I don't think Mr Robot isn't that HQ compared to other members. He is a great user and really friendly but I think that for example, compared with Hash G, he isn't that good. I voted for Hash G.

Although I think that Mr. Robot is one of the most HQ members out here, he helped me with several things and is always kind to me.

An open-minded person and very HQ in his posts / opinion.

I still voted for Hash G., because that member is well-reputed.

He's helpful, kind and very intelligent (like Mr. Robot).

The "decision" was made when I remembered Hash G., offered me to exchange my PayPal for his BTC when nobody else could.

Nobody trusted me to exchange my PayPal to BTC but he offered me his help, putting trust in someone while others mistrust that person is the kindest thing you can do. He knew I was HQ, he knew I wasn't attempting to scam anybody so I really owe him my vote!

Perfectly understandable and I voted for Hash G the second time around anyway..

Thanks for taking the time to vote and even voicing your opinion - it's good to see and hear back from the community.

I voted Mr. Robot as I have never seen anybody before be so generous to the forum in ways that do not involve money.

I see him around all the time posting on threads, being active, and overall being a nice member.

However, the main thing that made me vote for him is every now and again, I will click a random thread and see Mr. Robot a few replies down going into extreme detail with links, pictures, and step by step details on how to fix the problem that a member may be having with their computer or whatever it may be. It doesn't matter if it is a regular member, l33t, ub3r, or whatever. He is just overall a very helpful guy on this forum and deserves the title of member of the year.

I noticed whenever the Mr.Peanut situation happened Robot had made a comment about withdrawing from the contest.

I would like to give him the option to accept it or vacate it to 2nd place Hash G. as although Robot made some negative comments his support from the community clearly goes to show.

Whenever Robot replies to the thread the award will be granted based off of his response, Novica and Hash G. are great members but it's member of the year and Robot has clearly had the biggest impact of the past 12 months.

Haven't been following this from the beginning, but from what I've seen/read it looks like to be Mr. Robot won the contest via votes but Hash G. was granted the award? Unless I missed something which is completely possible, this seems a little weird to me. Not accusing you of anything, but last time I checked you and Hash G. were pretty good friends in some groups and still seem to be nowadays. Not trying to say anything scandalous was going on, but ya know, it's Hack Forums. Weirder things have happened.
