

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Getting traffic into a specific niche website

Assaf - December 16, 2016, 3:59 am

I'm looking for a way where I can advertise my own website in order to gain real traffic.

My website is about unlocking smartphones and so far, I was commenting on Youtube videos (that are related to sim unlocks) to gain the specific traffic.

Due to Youtube's last updates, it has become harder to comment posts (most of them are filtered and automatically removed).

I tried to think about other sites but it has never worked well and I was hardly getting traffic.

Does someone have any idea?

Wouldn't mind to pay first for someone who has a great idea to share.

Thanks

BanditDev - December 17, 2016, 1:22 am

Start optimizing your website and start doing SEO on your site. I would also suggest making a Facebook page and start running ads for your business, you could also start running google Adwords for your website to gain more traffic. I would suggest start targeting locally with your seo and then keep expanding from there.

Assaf - December 17, 2016, 4:02 am

(Dec 17, 2016 02:22 AM)BanditDev Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Start optimizing your website and start doing SEO on your site. I would also suggest making a Facebook page and start running ads for your business, you could also start running google Adwords for your website to gain more traffic. I would suggest start targeting locally with your seo and then keep expanding from there.

Currently, I'm using Bingads to gain the traffic (usually get about 100 clicks per day) but it is still not as good as Youtube was.

What do you think if I create my own Youtube video? It might take some time to get views and comments but it might help me get some good traffic.

Yrsend - December 17, 2016, 4:07 am

I highly recommend making youtube videos, and then upload transcriptions on your website. Also run Google Keywords as BanditDev said. Traffic usually comes with being in the top rank of google search.

P.S. Can you unlock icloud locked devices?

Riddle Maker - December 18, 2016, 7:06 pm

1. This is against Yahoo Answer's terms I guess, but you could also look up questions about unlocking smartphones and self-advertise your website by putting it in the source field while leaving your how-to answer. It's a good way to get a lot of traffic but it's kind of on the shill advertising side, so be careful not to get caught and answer other questions to make it seem like you're a "real contributor".

2. You could also rent peoples' signatures on popular smartphone forums and use a banner ad to promote your phone unlocking website.

3. If you have the time to take advantage of search engines, you can look up websites to purchase direct ads. Normally websites have a contact form where you can get in touch with the owner. That can be used to negotiate and get an ad for your site up in exchange for an agreed price.

ajay maanju - December 19, 2016, 8:46 am dir the best way is you start off page seo for your website and start to use blogger,tumbler,web 2.0. Post ,add url,cache them and make quality back links but first make good keyword then follow these thing i know its take time but in the end it will create a good result.Thanks

Assaf - December 19, 2016, 11:02 am

(Dec 18, 2016 08:06 PM)Riddle Maker Wrote: CITE 1. This is against Yahoo Answer's terms I guess, but you could also look up questions about unlocking smartphones and self-advertise your website by putting it in the source field while leaving your how-to answer. It's a good way to get a lot of traffic but it's kind of on the shill advertising side, so be careful not to get caught and answer other questions to make it seem like you're a "real contributor".

2. You could also rent peoples' signatures on popular smartphone forums and use a banner ad to promote your phone unlocking website.

3. If you have the time to take advantage of search engines, you can look up websites to purchase direct ads. Normally websites have a contact form where you can get in touch with the owner. That can be used to negotiate and get an ad for your site up in exchange for an agreed price.

I'm going to try Yahoo! Answers once I get some spare time (prolly tomorrow).

Also, opening a FB page sounds good to me.

Assaf - December 22, 2016, 2:41 pm

Does anyone have more tips for me?