Thread: [\[Official Group\] Dawn - New Leadership & New Sectors](#)

grady - December 16, 2016, 8:27 am

"The first rays of light that sustain a new day."

This is copied from the Dawn subforum

Since I'm going to be taking ownership of the group, and ethan (Ninetales) will be taking a backseat since he's been inactive, I'm going to see if I can't forge Dawn into something new. I want to extend that to all members willing to take part and help me push it forward.

I have no current plans for new sectors, though I do have a couple ideas:

General Population - Lounge people, friends of mine or people in the group because they're entertaining, not for activity.

Education Sector - Provide help with both Education Nation and post tutorial threads on academia.

Innuendo/Personal Life Sector - Phoenix/143, hopefully lead by Nevieth if he so chooses.

Also, I will NOT make a sector for if there's a group dedicated to it, and doing well at it.

looks at Baka

If you have an idea, post or PM me with it, and if I'm so inclined, I'll give you leadership over that sector.

There will be no leadership spots for sale.

There will be no buy-ins.

ADDITION 1:

(Dec 16, 2016 02:50 PM)Minimalist Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Include health wise as part of personal lifeGood idea, will definitely see to that.

On the topic of what defines "activity" for me, I don't plan on keeping content locked to the subforum.

There's no point. Our subforum will be used for either planning or socializing within the group.

Group sector activity will take place in the forum, and the forum only.

So far, I've reached a few decisions towards ideas given to me.

Streetwear/Fashion - Windows 98

That has been the only concrete decision made.

A few things I'm debating within my head:

Graphics \(Click to View\)

Weekly/Biweekly contests and/or battles, depending on if we can get enough designers willing to put their time into it.

Haven't had an idea for leader for this yet, so maybe the first big graphics battle is in order? :?

Gaming (Click to View)

As I said in response to DoctorSheep,

Quote:Maybe, but I rarely see continuous activity out of this, it's usually a one time group thing, then it's a userbar group under the guise of being a collection of gamers.

Just how I see it.

Tech/Whitehat (Click to View)

Depends on if I can get activity and find someone I trust to lead the sector and keep it active.

Will most likely tech will include Phones/Hardware, along with that sort of thing.

Web Dev & Projects (Click to View)

Meh, we'll see where we go with Dawn first off, then maybe something taxing like this could be managed. I heavily doubt it.

SRPP/Philosophy (Click to View)

Once again, competent leader.

I'd have no problems with Abbraluna or Goodies, in the case they'd even be interested in the offer.

Arts (Click to View)

Activity, activity, activity.

Photography, music, poetry, arts.

Also, due to him being extremely, extremely dedicated to Dawn and our vision of it, Night Fury can take his choice of what he'd like to lead, new sector or no.

Since Riptide died how would you like a music sector? We were making an album before it got sold and it would be nice to see something like that again and have it finished. Publish it under the groups name and boom, ez pz.

?ane - December 16, 2016, 10:05 am

That is respectable that you are not doing buy-ins, I currently run the Occult section in Illuminati and it is a SRPP sector we try to refrain from using biased opinion, rather than proving a factual counter-argument, and comments spitting other members for their own discussions. I do this to provide a spot where we can discuss controversial topics without negativity and provide a discussion meant only for the topic at hand.

That being said I have created an amazing atmosphere within Illuminati and in my opinion, it is the only honest to god good part of Illuminati. If you ever need help with anything let me know, I have a good taste in character and honestly, a relationship advice sector could work. I saw what you said about baka but I don't feel like that sector is being ran properly.

Also if you would like to consider running a graphics sector as well I would be willing to help. Have a nice day!

The Innuendo sector will be something that will greatly benefit the forum. One of the only groups I have ever been highly involved in was 143, and that was due to the community that came about due to the innuendo feel of the group.

If this group can become anything like what 143 was, it will be an amazing addition to the forum and I would love to apply for a spot in the group. I've missed 143 ever since Daisy and them left the forum, and the forum has never seen another group like it.

If you're looking for someone who would also love to help dedicate their time towards the sector, I would love to help make it awesome even without leadership. This would be something I would be highly interested in helping grow.

Let me know OP!

Also, if you would like to take interest into maybe a sports sector I believe it would be very beneficial for the group for a variety of reasons.

1. This forum has never seen a sports group that I can remember.
2. The sports section has been growing in popularity in the past couple of months.
3. Sports are timeless. They have been around since the beginning of time, and will always be around.
4. It would be a more tight-knit sector, and I fully believe that activity in this sector would be very high.
5. There is always something new happening in sports, every single day. New games, new plays, new trades. You would never run out of things to talk about.

I would also be very interested in leading a sector about this as every single day of my life involves watching sports whether it be football, baseball, basketball, etc. I could do a great job running this sector.

I was sadly never in 143, but I was fortunate enough to be a member of Phoenix when it first kicked off with Tibit taking the reins. It changed my life and was a great experience for me.

I know those moments can never be mimicked, but we can make our very own memories.

If I do take leadership of the sector, I'll save your name for future recruitment. :)

Only thing stopping me right now is time restraint. It's one of the busiest times of the year for me, and things are piling up for work and bills wise.

As great as gaming sectors are, there is already several. The best direction to go is to do something now one else is currently doing and it needs to be something no one expected either.

Yeah all though there are a few sectors already. Dawn for the whole HF community could get a gaming sector and to promote it buy server hosting for games like Rust, DayZ or whatever other games. Which is not what regular gaming sectors do.

Gaming groups never work out.

Daddy???????????? - December 16, 2016, 7:09 pm

I have been a part of multiple "Gaming" groups, and they all fall, they never can push content or events to succeed. Even being a part of Dawn during its phase of Gaming/Education Sectors, it wasn't great or pushed for activity.

If the leaders urged the members together to get to know one another and then make it where there would be game nights or fun little events once a week or more, then that would be pretty sweet.

Though that has never happened, and I don't expect it to as that's going to be time-consuming along with being committed.

With the Education section, it lacked a lot. Anytime someone offered to teach others they slacked and never actually mentored or taught anyone how to specifically do something except "Oh hey follow this "tutorial," while that can be great but an actual conversation with said "teacher" would be great.

Anyhow, I hope whatever direction Dawn is going in is going to be great but who knows, time will tell.

I use the education sector term very loosely.

What I mean it as is for people (such as myself) to post something like a unit of their Calculus course that they're taking, and hopefully someone can pick something up from it. I might be participating in things like that.
