Thread: Christmas Gifts for a Girlfriend

Wirt - December 20, 2016, 1:15 pm

Ugh. I love Christmas a lot, and I love giving gifts. But it's hard when you don't know what to get someone.

For example, I love my girlfriend, and I want to get her something special.. but I don't know what she would want. I don't want to get her something that she will never use, but I also don't want to get her something she already has.

I also worry that she will get me something really expensive and I get her something cheaper and it will look like I don't care or I am stingy with my money.

Help me out guys. What do I do?

@Jupiter - December 20, 2016, 1:17 pm

Talk to her about it, usually that resolves a lot of stress.

Brenton - December 20, 2016, 1:17 pm

Bath & Body works. That's always a great option. It all depends on how long you've been with her. Could always get her a necklace or something.

Or, if ya'll been dating for a while get her some stuff from VS. Not too difficult bro. If you need more help, PM me.

Just get her a gift card for a shop she likes lol idk gl!

Hm. It's only been about 3 months. I'm not quite sure how long it has to be to be considered a while.

I'd do some candles and things from Bath and Body works. I wouldn't go too crazy with it. If you know her favorite brand/company get her something from there. You're short on time so maybe just try to sneak it into a conversation.

If she is interested in games maybe a massive gaming toy which she can cuddle.

Victoria Secret has some nice deals this time of year & as many others said you can't go wrong with Bath & Body Works. If she likes makeup then you can get her some stuff from Sephora.

What I want my boyfriend to get me is some cloths however he always gets the wrong size. I also want an engraved necklace.

O t t o - December 20, 2016, 1:22 pm

It really all depends how long you guys have been dating. I've been with my girl for about 2 months now so I just bought her some new clothes and nothing expensive.

SIM-2998667 - December 20, 2016, 1:23 pm

I usually just take her to the mall and have her pick what she wants, although this year I might buy her a clean pair of Adidas. I already told her to make sure she likes them that should be enough

He's wanting a genuine response on what he should get for his girlfriend, we don't need LQ trolls in this thread.

Anyways, most girls that I know and hang out around usually go shopping at Bath & Body, or at Lush. I'd get her a bath bomb, and maybe a cream or two from Lush (that's if you have Lush over there)

Either that, or shop at Forever 21 and find a few clothes that she might like, or have a girl friend of yours talk to your girlfriend to see what she likes from Forever 21, or just go with the first one, which is go to Lush. I know a few of my Friends are crazy for Lush, usually buy them one every month or so and I'm probably going to be doing it for Christmas as well.

Brenton - December 20, 2016, 1:35 pm

Clothes are very particular. When it comes to someone I've just recently started to date I get more of the gifts I know they'll like. Over time you learn the specifics and how to shop for them.

Geass - December 20, 2016, 1:51 pm

Just take whatever you want, cloths for example, the thought matters and she will be happy for that i guess

henry - December 20, 2016, 1:52 pm

Get her 100 bath bombs or lingerie (if shes into that)

Skrill - December 20, 2016, 1:54 pm

Perfume, a book, a diary of she's into that, hair products.

If all else fails you can never go wrong with a rose gold neckles.

Psilocybinaut - December 20, 2016, 1:57 pm

Get your a gift that has you and her in mind, like a gift certificate for a couples massage, or get her a necklace that has a companion piece to go with it that you can wear. or whats super cute is to make little coupons with little things on it like "you makes her a special dinner* or good for one hour massage by yours truly if its super cute and you can do it without spending money thats golden

Zekra - December 20, 2016, 2:00 pm

Don't get fucked over like my nigga did, girl and him were dating for 2-3 weeks before Christmas, told him she was a gold digger but he didn't believe me. Christmas came and he bought her around $600 worth of stuff... nigga got dumped the next day lmao. This was last year, and this is why I don't suddenly get into relationships around the holidays.. you know somethings up.

Calmriver72 - December 20, 2016, 3:41 pm

Get her a kitchen aid so she can bake brownies coookies etc for you it's a win win situation

Obimoto - December 20, 2016, 3:43 pm

Depends, are you looking for a blowjob kind of gift or are you goin for the brown hole this time around???

Tnayrb - December 20, 2016, 5:04 pm

I usually just go with jewelry.

Bluffer - December 20, 2016, 5:43 pm

Probably should break up with her if you don't know what to get your girlfriend.

?ody - December 20, 2016, 5:46 pm

Can't go wrong with getting her a Victoria Secret gift card. Just load up as much as you want on there and she can go spoil herself whenever.

VTECin5TH - December 20, 2016, 7:03 pm

You can get her slippers and a dildo for christmas. If she doesnt like the slippers then she can go fuck herself with the dildo. lol but in all seriousness, I've always had good result from bath and body works. Get something that you both can benefit from.

?-? ??? ????? - December 20, 2016, 7:05 pm

Well when me and my girlfriend first started going out 2 years ago, we'd literally ask each other what we wanted and he'd get it, so I recommend doing that.
