Not required. Optional. I do not recommend it. Shopify payment is all you need and Stripe when you're tired of doing 4 figures a day :P.

Anticipate - December 21, 2016, 10:21 pm

The only problem is, I'm taking all the information in, but I don't know where to even start.

I've got hundreds of dollars at my fingertips to start one up and promote it to the fullest, but no sense of direction of how to start.

You're fucking with me right?

Spoonfed would suggest I'm trying to piggyback him? Explain how asking for guidance and suggestions in spoon-feeding? Fuck out of here. I'm going to be spending my own hard earned money.

The other thread is all you need to start up.

Yet, you still ask the same questions, like how old are you dude?

Anyone with an open mind can be creative and make their own niches. basically thinking outside the box.

You keep asking for help, but don't even know what kind of help you need.

Smh

Since when is trying to gather as much info about a new way to make money as possible a bad thing?

Going balls deep the first try is what fuck some people over. I am not one to like making mistakes. Especially with an online business with tons of ways to go south.

Trying to make it seem like asking questions is a bad thing. Smh.

All a nigga knows is buy it and sell it

FiftyTwo - December 22, 2016, 1:32 pm

I tried Shopify once, and the following happened:

Invested $5 into advertising.

Dropshipped one item for £30 - bought it for £13.

Got bored.

Stopped.

I'm thinking of maybe dropping a bit more on this and seeing where I can go from there?

Finding a proper niche is what's hard for me.
