Thread: Let L33T post Threads in CE

Bennynguyen100 - December 22, 2016, 10:55 pm

I dont get it.

Why not let L33T's posts Threads in CE?

I understand why AGC was moved to CE.

I understand why you may need to restrict CE to certain user groups, but why not L33T?

I have really been involved in Exchanges with AGC.

Now because of the new rule changes, I can no long have my very successful exchange go the way it did.

Now I find it much harder to get customers as I have no where for my AGC Exchange thread to be.

I can not post in CE.

Its just really troublesome that I am not allowed to have a thread in CE, and its really getting in the way.

I dont see any harm in letting L33T's post threads in CE.

I think the problem is more security of account, such as passwords and 2-Step Authentication that should be enforced.

I propose;

Let L33T's post threads in Currency Exchange

2-Step Authentication is required to post anything in Currency Exchange (at least)

Because rules are rules and it prevents SCAMMERS

This is absolutely the WORST idea I've ever seen suggested on Hack Forums. Their are already enough exit scams from people who sell their precious Ub3r accounts or do it themselves, also, anyone, and I mean anyone could day 1 buy l33t and start scamming people, some members would just be blind to scams. Worst idea EVER!

However, not all L33T's are scammers.

And there are other ways to lessen then chance of scammers, apart from completely disallowing L33T's from having threads in CE.

Rule suggestions are against the rules, OP.

Regardless of that this is truly one of the shittiest ideas I've ever seen posted on Hack Forums, honestly, it's just asking for scams.

As I said in the OP.

There are other ways to prevent scammers.

Disallowing L33T's entirely is inconvenient.

Instead, what if have a minimum requirement for L33T's to be able to post a thread in CE.

Like 500 Posts, or 50 Rep, or 2 Months on the forum.

That way, we would be able to work out for ourselves and should be able to easily distinguish the scammers and such instead of not letting any L33T's post at all.

I believe being able to currency exchange is an earned privilege, I think it should take more of a requirement than it already does.
