Thread: xCoins.io | MAKE UP TO \$4,000/MONTH FULLY AUTOPILOT! ### ACTUALLY GENUINE METHOD! ###

BLURRYF?CE - December 26, 2016, 4:20 pm

RequirementsA PayPal account

A way to purchase BTC for 0-5% rate (i.e. PayPal -> Bank -> Coinbase/BitQuick.co/LocalBitcoins.com/Kraken/etc) EDIT: Straight from PayPal -> BTC: <https://wirexapp.com/blog/how-to-buy-bitcoins-with-paypal/>

Five minutes of your time

Minimum $20

The Method

Register an account over at xCoins.io by clicking here.

Deposit Bitcoin into your account, you can find your deposit address here.

Change your lending limit to an arbitrary amount (i.e. $1,000) and make sure "Adjust the amount automatically, when bitcoin is deposited" is checked and it'll update your lending limit every time you make a deposit.

If your PayPal is new, make sure to also check "Increase the lending volume gradually" and it'll keep exchanging for you till it hits an invisible limit which is ~$1,000, take a break for a week and then keep going till it hits a new, slightly higher invisible limit. This is crucial for new accounts to prevent account limitations.

Every time you deposit Bitcoin into your xCoins.io account, you will receive 15% more in return into your PayPal account with all fees covered! The great thing is, as far as PayPal is aware, you are not selling Bitcoin, the PayPal payment looks as if it's a loan collateral! If you keep buying Bitcoin at 1:1 rate and keep filling up your xCoins.io account, then you can make up to $4,000/month in profit!

Edit: Won the one and only chargeback I got so far.

It's ok for auto profit, since I don't plan to invest too much in this

Open your PayPal, make as many secondary PayPal emails as you're able to (e.g. if your email is johndoe@gmail.com you can make secondary emails like john.doe@gmail.com, j.o.h.n.d.o.e@gmail.com, j.o.h.n.doe@gmail.com, etc, and they'll all be valid and go to the same inbox), then make new xCoins accounts, one for every PayPal secondary email you made, fill up those accounts and now you should have 5x+ more sales traffic in theory!

Who actually sends you the PayPal funds? xcoins directly or the people who exchange/loan from you?

Additionally, every borrower have to sign a contract for every loan. Calling it a loan is just a loophole however, as far as PayPal is concerned, the PayPal money they send you is the collateral for the loan, except the collateral is 15% higher than the loan itself (+ PayPal fees included), but in reality you're just selling Bitcoin. Nobody is going to repay the loan, but if anybody ever did, then you'd make a ridiculous profit.

Pretty compelling, good luck with this...if you can find another way to accept PayPal payments.

Vouch for xcoins, great service and an excellent way to connect with verified buyers.

SocialAgency - December 27, 2016, 3:07 pm

So you can buy bitcoins on HF for 14% paypal max and still make profit because you get 15% on that website?

Sorry I am new to crypto and this is kinda complicated without knowledge.

Pingoola - December 27, 2016, 8:19 pm

Is there anywhere i can buy BTC directly from my PayPal, without having to use a bank and whatnot

trixed - December 27, 2016, 11:54 pm

Isn't this like the 4th thread I've seen about xcoins

PayPal actually doesn't let you withdraw to card anymore. I guess i could try LocalBitcoins, however I haven't found anybody with rates under 5% yet ;?

BotMe - January 3, 2017, 10:18 pm

Sorry I'm new to this, and I have a couple of questions:

1. When you enter the lending limit does it charge your account?
2. So you need to buy bitcoins and deposit them into xcoins and wait until someone buy them?
3. Where do I find a bitcoin seller with a rate that is less than 5%?

i know coinbase offers it via paypal but their ID verification window is fucked on edge and chrome and it won't let me upload my ID.

So I invested $70, and after the visa fees it came out to $71 and change. I've profited like $3 :/

Wow it works quite fast. Its very confusing and hard to work out if you actually make any money though. Is there an easy way to calculate your profits as you need to take into consideration the exchange rate dont you?

stegster - January 9, 2017, 2:15 am

Well i have just had an email from PayPal that they are investigating a payment reversal.

Paypal have said "We recently notified you that a payment you received was made without the account holder's permission, or was the result of a transaction error."

Anyone know if i will get this refunded from xcoins?

Its a bit disheartening when people are trying to commit friendly fraud on this xcoin thing. Its great that xcoin give you all the required information to help your case but i wonder if this happens all too often and i wouldnt want to have too many of these cases ongoing.

Coinbase does not let you buy bitcoins with paypal contrary to popular belief plus use your phone to upload your id etc like i did, i tried using my shitty laptop to do that last summer and it was a pain in the ass for an hour and didn;t even accept it.

Try bitpanda as they allow you to buy bitcoin with paypal. Only problem is you have to through a very tedious I'd verification process.

null™ - January 17, 2017, 1:28 am

I gave this a shot.

Invested $20 USD,

Made back a total of $13 USD,

Losing $7 USD.

Don't know what happened there LOL, someone fill me in? :)

GEEG - January 17, 2017, 2:27 pm

got my btc at a 4% fee

if i try this on a larger scale which i will soon i'll do it with btc that i can buy at a 1.49% fee
