I've had this for a while now and it is a very useful tool to have.

All in all the software is well worth the money when you consider how much your time is worth in the real world. With this tool you can create a workflow that is fast and efficient while also helping to build on new ideas such as tracking specific "types" of usernames across the internet to track down leads or obtain new assets.

I use it regularly and it has a much smaller footprint than macro and Ubot scrapers. If you value your time, this tool is for you.

Would be very interested in a vouch copy, especially since I just got into cracking, I could give my two cents of usability as a newbie. Let me know!
