I used to use google chrome but then someday it got really slow so i started using firefox wich i had used before and i like it, will probably use it forever.

No extensions that i can remember.

Trappy - December 27, 2016, 6:18 pm

Currently chrome but I think I'm going to start using firefox, currently using Adblock Plus, and all my cookies I think it's called?

Prophett - December 27, 2016, 6:22 pm

I've always been a Google Chrome fan but since I've installed Windows 10 I prefer Microsoft Edge a lot more.

I'm using Adblock from some years and then I came across Ublock a year ago.
From then I started keeping both.

On some sites ads are disaster.

Silver Fang - June 8, 2017, 4:07 pm

I've used Firefox for years, however i have tasted a few problems that i don't get with Chrome when testing. 1 is the Faceit problem, basically it doesn't always load up to matchrooms even if i update the page.

Second is the speed, chrome tends to have greater speeds when loading pages.

Why i wanted Firefox is basically because of it's integrity... It feels like I'm going to be dependable on Google(as company) if i tend to use all their products and only their products. I'm not sure.

At this point it feels like i want to go over to Chrome because of it's speed however it's eating resources more than Firefox but at this point i don't think i mind that much.

What addons i use for Firefox is:

Ublock origin

Stylish(wish to use darker themes on some sites)
