

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Cool Cream - Illustration

Intern - December 27, 2016, 10:57 pm

Just some late night illustrator practice , any tips you guys could drop would be great.

Still getting the hang of illustration work w/shading and all of that.

Nyxuo - December 28, 2016, 12:34 am

Other then the fact the sprinkles have no shading at all and that the shading seems to be a little bit off on the drip part in my opinion I think this is smooth and it looks pretty cool actually. Maybe a subtle cone texture with a different yellow? Either way looks nice right nwo.

22 Savage - December 28, 2016, 10:19 am

Damn, you gotta teach me sometime OP. Looks really nice. ?

Prince™ - December 28, 2016, 10:23 am

Looks good. Maybe work on a bit on the way it melts down onto the biscuit part? Kinda looks odd to me.

Intern - December 28, 2016, 11:41 am

(Dec 28, 2016 01:34 AM)Axeon1g Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Other then the fact the sprinkles have no shading at all and that the shading seems to be a little bit off on the drip part in my opinion I think this is smooth and it looks pretty cool actually. Maybe a subtle cone texture with a different yellow? Either way looks nice right nwo.

Good point about the shading man, I'll work on this again tonight sometime :)

Thanks dude

(Dec 28, 2016 11:19 AM)22 Savage Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Damn, you gotta teach me sometime OP. Looks really nice. ?

It's all tons of small steps tbh man ~ anyone can do it :)

(Dec 28, 2016 11:23 AM)Prince™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Looks good. Maybe work on a bit on the way it melts down onto the biscuit part? Kinda looks odd to me.

I'll def be touching up on this an updating tonight, thanks for this bud ?