Thread: Website Construction. YouTube Automatic Subscription Process

I'm in need of a website similar to the old, isubscribe.ma which is now no longer available.

Basically, when you entered the site you had to connect your youtube account through your google account. It would then automatically subscribe you to other users that have connected their accounts. And then users that have connected their account, are subscribed to you, usually you would get around 3000 new subscribers within an hour. It just depended on how many accounts were connected to the site.

In short terms. I need a site that when entered. You are tempted with a google login. Once your youtube is connected, a progress bar shows and other accounts that have been connected to the site are automatically subscribed to the new user for as long as they stay on the page and the progress bar continues.

The new user is also auto subscribed to users that have previously added their accounts to the site.

I know this is definitely possible. Using googles api auth service.

Hopefully you can find someone who can do this! :)
