Thread: need help regarding installing a rat in android phone

Sandeepkr - December 29, 2016, 5:53 am hello guys,

so i want to spy on my gf's phone and so planned to install a RAT.
i did some research and by now i am aware of the following points

1. i need physical access to the target phone
2. i need to root the target phone and also make the app status hidden in supersu so given that i bought a reliable RAt and tried it and its working well, i am assuming that i will need at least 15 minutes solid with the target phone without her knowledge.

this is where i am out of ideas.

can you guys please share your thoughts an how to access the target phone physically for atleast 20 minutes without her knowledge?

thank you all :)

and also i would welcome any tips of which rat is good or similar recommendations also.
i am personally preferring keyloggers over RAT but they seem to not exist alone. kindly help in this regard also.

thanks

Well if you need access to the phone for that amount of time try getting it while she is with her friends or really busy. If you get caught snooping on her phone it is going to make it worse.

is there any app or bug that i can remotely install which will cause a mess in her android.. then i can pretend to have to checked or repaired and take it i guess..!

Why would you rat your girlfriend. She's the one person you should be able to talk to, and now you're invading her privacy and hacking her. If she finds out, she won't be happy. Grow a dick and go talk to her

Oh my God, what is the problem with people and trying to break into relative's phones. Just follow what @Sheeple said and grow a pair; you insecure bastard. Else if you feel like she's actually cheating on you do your own investigation and make a fake account and message her and see if she'll go out with the fake account, then confront her about it. It's literally what you're trying to do, but this is more illegal.

if she uses an android :

search in youtube how to create a backdoor with metasploit, then after creating the backdoored apk file search on how to embed it in a real android app, like a game or something.

At last just convince her to install it and BOOM ALL DONE!!

but you have to be carefull, i suggest that you try this on your self just to make sure that it works and it's undetectable then you can try it on her.

No, this will only work for a short time. Once the phone is turned off, it will be gone. Also, you don't actually need root.

Aside from that I'm not going to help you, sorry.

no you don't need root, i already tested this and it works just fine.

Another thing is if you embed the backdoor in an app that she uses all the time, it means whenever she opens the app the backdoor will start with it, you just have to be convincing and trustfull, and you also need to customizer your backdoor, not just type mmsfvenom and generate a basic apk, personelize it to get a better one, that's all.
