Thread: If you have a skype imposter check here.

Mr. Robot - January 1, 2017, 1:59 am

If you have a skype imposter, please check this list as they are all run by one person.

Can you add the location on Windows our contacts are saved? I forgot the link and think it could help others quickly determine if they have one of these.

Tid?es - January 1, 2017, 2:01 am

It's 2017 and people are still stupid enough to get scammed by skype impostors.

Thanks Mr. Robot for posting this for me! I appreciate it a ton! If you want to see more details check my threads.

He also claims to have up to 20 people scamming so not just one.

The image is not working, please solve it.

minimalist - January 1, 2017, 12:25 pm

Looks like the perpetrator reported the image for abuse...

Loads fine for me....

EDIT: Nevermind. I had it cached. Here is the image.

Looks like he isn't the same one who scammed over $10k under my name (federalnsagent). Not sure about the other ones (minimalist.hf, etc.) because the folder names cut out at 'l'

I'm sure he knows. The image I posted above is the same one.

This he says is 10% of the Skypes he has. So there are tons of other impersonators on HF he has. He works with 20 people as well. So yeah, I hope this info may help out Omni in some way.

Sad to see people getting tricked by impersonators.

For the record, this is why I don't deal with anyone on Skype (or a similar platform) nor will I ever ask someone for any personal/sensitive details. Always confirm with the person you are dealing with on HF and take other security measures to ensure you don't get scammed by one.
