Like the title says looking for MyBB Plugins

These are the following plugins I am looking for:

- Blog
- Advertisement (I think I may have found one)
- Shop (actual products)

Well instead of being lazy, a simple google search "myBB plugins" brings instant results.

While waiting for someone to post I have been searching and found a blog along with advertisement but have not found a shop one yet.

I forgot to add that I was searching while hoping someone would of known this already...

Simpler way to add a blog would be adding the button on the forum manually and making a redirect. Then, blog could be separate software and could run like a separate site, just on a sub-domain.

With your blog, why not host it seperatly and simply link it to your forum instead?

I would like it to be on the same platform for personal thoughts. I think it does make it easier to navigate and use that way.
