Hey guys so I recently purchased a Samsung GALAXY s6 edge and it became samsung account locked(not google frp that's different) since I can't get in the phone I can't enable USB mode, after doing research I was able to access the settings of the phone and tried to add samsung account from there but it won't allow me to do anything related with no account or apps so I can't evade the Samsung login. And I can't activate the developer mode either it's being blocked by security, I did allow couples firmware flash using keiss3 but it didn't help, I need some allowccoupssdvice from you guys in two matters.

- 1) How to enable usb debugging from PC or else where as I can't do it on phone,
- 2) should I flash it with a custom rom or official rom.

Thanks guys

I was trying the new android app, it sucks so might have made some mistake.

Contact the seller because you won't be able to get around it.

try a hard reset on the phone
then try again

Doesn't work. Hard resetting doesn't remove Samsung's security.
