Thread: Tera Online | Europe | Community | Killian Server | New | Discord

Lufasu - January 6, 2017, 3:57 pm

So , Today i decided to get back into tera.

A 3 years ago i was playing tera , i was have 3 characters , Gunner , Reaper , Warrior 2 of them was level 65 and one of them level 40.

So today i was like lets play it again , me and my friend starting to play together.

Also another one is going to play with us , we are going to make a guild , as some guys know me (2-3 guys that i play with them ALOT of mmo games) I lead 4 guilds , only one of them was the biggest , on the game "Silkroad Online" private server name Isro(EU) with guild of 50 players and union of 30 players.

So there you dont need to worry from "he will start a guild and disband it after 2 months".

Currently we are going to do fresh start with new accounts and characters.

We are heading into "Killian" Server on europe.

If i will level up faster and faster , each new player will get help from me with leveling and questing and if you will show yourself as an serious and active guy i can even help with ingame currency (gold).

We will manage our guild from a Discord server that i'm managing.

The guild will be worldwide around any country that around europe/middle east and will able to play with good ping , if you are from NA and able to play with 100+ ping on EU , you're more than welcome to join.

I played TERA a little bit some time ago, it was fun but didn't keep me hooked. I think I played on NA?... I'm not sure, I know I played the Steam version of it.

I'm currently searching for an MMO to play, if I decide to get on TERA I'll let you know :)

Also, what iSRO server did you use to play on? And what was the name of your guild? I used to play that game quite a lot back in the day.

EDIT: Oh wait, just noticed you said private server. The only big private SRO server I played on for a bit was ECSRO.

Not really pay2win since to get pvp gear you must have materials to craft the gear so you get those by dungeons and they are untradeable so i will say its not that pay2win so cuz if you put some effort you can be strong asfuck

Mojeh - January 19, 2017, 7:45 am

Played WoW on and off for a few years so I have some experience with games like this, but somehow I've never heard of this.

Unsure how active I can be due to work and shit, but it looks good. I'll download it just now! ?

Lufasu - January 30, 2017, 2:32 pm

This is still available and since we rebrand the guild with new master, the new master will offer help with pvp/pve sets to all the recruits :)!

So far, 4.4m gold (worth of 700$++) has been given away.

Gummy Bear - January 30, 2017, 3:00 pm

I play on the NA version of Tera, my EU friends said the EU version was owned by a different company and it's pay2win on their. EU seems to not even be able to get Tera on Steam and have to go to a direct link from the Steam Store to download.

opposite tho, i farm my PVP set and weapon about 2 weeks and half and almost got it.

pay2win doesn't exist since for high tier items they are not tradeable or also the materials that you make the high tier items, aren't tradeable either, you need to farm battlegrounds and dungeons to get those materials and craft your high tier weapon/set.

People saying pay2win because they can buy gold and with the gold they can buy a pvp set (conflate) which all of his materials is tradeable but this is for lazy people.

Aloud - April 23, 2017, 1:56 am

I just started playing Tera yesterday, but I downloaded via steam. Can we play with eachother? and do I keep my character if I switch to EU?
