Thread: [\[Help\] What languages should I start with and..](#)

Int0x80 - January 9, 2017, 3:51 am

Well I've tried

- Python
- Html
- CSS
- Java

I keep forgetting everything I've learn't, or most of what I learn't. I really need someone to help motivate me and encourage me I just need some support and guidance I've attempted to learn, I'm not sure what to do. If someone's willing to give me a boost or help me out I'd appreciate that a lot I really wanna learn but I just don't end up doing it and forget about it then I remember and attempt again and I forgot half the stuff I learn't, I really have to stick at this and it's just I have all the time in the world to learn it which makes me wanna do it more but I'm not sure where to start, if someones willing to give me some 1 on 1 advice I'd appreciate it here's the discord if you're willing too.

The title is a very hard to question to answer with no idea what the end goal is.

Self teaching requires motivation which it seems you don't have much of.

Work on your motivation and then start to learn programming.

This.

Also, programming is one of those use-it-or-lose-it things. If you don't continue practicing and working with a language you'll eventually forget it.

Tbh I watch hackers not skids hack into huge corps or watch just watch bunch of vids on hacking. IT gets intresting and once you kind of get too stressed out it think its good to take a step back and see whats ahead of u (on youtube). I guess thats a lil tip, but I cant give u guidance cuz i need guidance myself lols. GL tho
