

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Tutorials for a complete beginner?

BAN666 - January 10, 2017, 8:58 am

Hello,

I apologize for asking this since I'm sure it gets asked often. But I am interested in learning more about hacking and was wondering if anyone can point me in the direction of some good beginner tutorials. Ive read that there are a lot on here, but Im having trouble finding ones directed at beginners? I'm currently taking a free online course on writing code and learning Linux, but the more info the better.

Thank you!

Larsenpower - January 10, 2017, 9:00 am

(Jan 10, 2017 09:58 AM)BAN666 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hello,

I apologize for asking this since I'm sure it gets asked often. But I am interested in learning more about hacking and was wondering if anyone can point me in the direction of some good beginner tutorials. Ive read that there are a lot on here, but Im having trouble finding ones directed at beginners? I'm currently taking a free online course on writing code and learning Linux, but the more info the better.

Thank you!

"Hacking" - That is such a wide term. Please describe what kind of hacking you want to learn - It will make it easier for us to guide you

Goodies - January 10, 2017, 9:01 am

You could check out my tutorials thread. While some of them are, at least to some degree, outdated, they still can be classified as 'beginner.'

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4075289>

matt dax - January 10, 2017, 9:04 am

(Jan 10, 2017 09:58 AM)BAN666 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hello,

I apologize for asking this since I'm sure it gets asked often. But I am interested in learning more about hacking and was wondering if anyone can point me in the direction of some good beginner tutorials. Ive read that there are a lot on here, but Im having trouble finding ones directed at beginners? I'm currently taking a free online course on writing code and learning Linux, but the more info the better.

Thank you!

Take your time going through this website. There is plenty information for beginners in the tutorial section. Next time I would recommend you look a little more before you make a post about it. Some people get annoyed when people come and ask basic questions, that could easily been found through google or searching the forum.

BAN666 - January 10, 2017, 10:05 am

Sorry guys, I should have researched more first. Thanks for your help!

As far as what type of hacking I'm looking to start with some pen testing, malware, and password cracking.

(Jan 10, 2017 10:01 AM)Goodies Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You could check out my tutorials thread. While some of them are, at least to some degree, outdated, they still can be classified as 'beginner.'
Thank you!