Thread: Looking for MODERATORS

DarkScientist - January 15, 2017, 1:18 pm

Hey guys, I've recently launched business/marketing forums for young entrepreneurs, I've already recruited great wise members and are up to 34 members, and already have great 50 discussions/guides and engagement between the users, since this is new forums I am looking to gather some trusted members to be my moderators, if your interest is to make money, help others and such this forums is great for you!

here is the website www.socialshub.com and if you are interested, simply reply the thread here or PM

Thank You! ??

From here? Must be joking!

zhyreox - January 15, 2017, 1:24 pm

I am up for the job, let me know the results. I can contribute a lot.

I said I'm looking for trusted members to contribute, I'm not looking for HF moderators, they already have HF to moderate you moron, plus the forums is for Business and Marketing which is completely different than HackForums!

what's up bro, the thread caught my eye. I'm 14 going on 15 in may and i have actually worked on a few businesses in the past, starting off with a video production company, and now i'm working on my own clothing line. i have a pretty built resume for my age and i would love to help you out with anything you've got. :)

and i have also some decent experience with eBay/aliexpress drop shipping.

Why is it for young entrepreneurs, I'm outty.

oscast - January 15, 2017, 2:26 pm

I like the whole premise of the forum but I don't like the setup of it all, just my 2 cents

It seems way too flat, if you know what I mean.

Not flat (variation)

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Flat (or completley white background + white border around the modules?)

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

This is just a preference for me :C

light gray + white doesn't hit home for me.

small text (really small)

I didn't mean moderators from here, I meant trusting users from here.
