Thread: I'm hacked by government experiment

Vorpalface - January 15, 2017, 2:45 pm

There's some program which stalks people, hacks their phones, computer and more and imitates "hearing voices" particularity which the person is high on meth. Probably because it's easy to dismiss as drug effects, like TV propaganda fake effects. Anyways, they've done this to me for 4-5 years, driving me crazy and ruined my life. I lost everything. Does anyone know anything about this or can offer any assistance?

I'd appreciate anything.

This sounds interesting umm, do you do anything the government would be interested in?

Yes. Why were you targeted? Send me a PM and let's discuss more.

First step would be to stop trolling on the lounge board of a forum that consists primarily of trolling. It's like throwing food into an irradiated pond with all dead fish.

OP you appear to be delusional and paranoid, seek medical attention and quit smoking meth.

thats exactly what they want you to think.

You need to actually start getting high on meth. Then you will think the voices come from the meth.
+ you get high. Easy win win situation.
