Quote:Genius programmer Shiki Magata has been living in isolation at a research facility on a solitary island since she was a girl. Nagono University associate professor Souhei Saikawa and Moe Nishinosono wish to meet Shiki in person, so they visit the facility but get caught up in a murderous game.

Season(s): 1

Episode(s): 11

Genre(s): Mystery, Psychological, Sci-Fi

Been putting up watching this for a while, and decided to make it my "Sunday watch" of this week. It isn't amazing, but the plot is interesting and the way the mystery gets solved will probably surprise a lot of viewers. So yeah, decent watch when you have some free time.

Since it appears to be along the lines of mystery/plot-development, would you say its closer to something like Ghost Hunt where its structured or is it random/unexpected format?
