

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: What to invest my money in

Hu??n?TeR? - January 16, 2017, 3:45 am

So, I'm turning 18 in a month and I've got about £3000 heading my way.

Would just like to know what everyone would recommend I do.

Open to any suggestions

Thanks in advance guys

Themis - January 16, 2017, 3:51 am cryptocurrencies maybe, buying selling btc

Danny Khalifa - January 16, 2017, 3:57 am

(Jan 16, 2017 04:51 AM)Themis Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) cryptocurrencies maybe, buying selling btc
Yeah, if he has any ideas about cryptocurrencies then yes it would be a good idea.

But also depends on your studies.

Hu??n?TeR? - January 16, 2017, 4:55 am

(Jan 16, 2017 04:57 AM)Danny Khalifa Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah, if he has any ideas about cryptocurrencies then yes it would be a good idea.

But also depends on your studies.

I've been trading crypto in the last couple of days and I've made a decent profit.

Just not sure if Crypto is going to be any good in the long term

Tiscali - January 16, 2017, 4:59 am

(Jan 16, 2017 05:55 AM)Hu??n?TeR? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've been trading crypto in the last couple of days and I've made a decent profit.

Just not sure if Crypto is going to be any good in the long term

remeber that you could always go short on asset: if you think that Bitcoin goes down, sell and rebuy it at a lower price. ?

Fortified Design - January 16, 2017, 7:04 am

(Jan 16, 2017 05:55 AM)Hu??n?TeR? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've been trading crypto in the last couple of days and I've made a decent profit.

Just not sure if Crypto is going to be any good in the long term

Don't do cryptos I had 10k to invest did some research on a couple of stocks invested. I invested all on one and made 58% profit in two days I'm sitting on 15k right now and the markets still open and it's already gone up 28% so I think I might cash out.

Yin Yang - January 16, 2017, 7:05 am

I would invest it into your education

Hu??n?TeR? - January 16, 2017, 8:01 am

(Jan 16, 2017 08:05 AM)Yin Yang Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would invest it into your education
We have student loans for that purpose

Tiscali - January 16, 2017, 8:09 am

(Jan 16, 2017 09:01 AM)Hu??n?TeR? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) We have student loans for that purpose
Split amount between more investment:

- 1) 20% Stock
- 2) 20% Commodities
- 3) 20% Crypto Trading
- 4) 20% Daytrading Between past 1-2-3
- 5) 20% Cash

About suggestion:

- 1) 25% PIIGS - 25% USA - 20% DAX+CAC 40 - 20% BRIC - 10% Other Latam+Asia
- 2) 30% Gold - 10% Chopper - 25% WTI OIL - 10% Nat Gas - 15% Sugar - 10% Wheat
- 3) 40% Bitcoin - 20% Dash - 20% Litecoin - 10% Xmr - 10% New cryptos

(Jan 16, 2017 09:01 AM)Hu??n?TeR? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) We have student loans for that purpose

Valeant - January 16, 2017, 3:22 pm

I suppose it depends on what you mean by invest! You could take that ~$3.2k and stick it in an index fund and make 5-7% return a year, or you could do some momentum trades in individual stocks & potentially make/lose much more.

Cryptocurrencies are a special kind of asset because those markets don't "function" in the same way structured markets do. They operate at all hours of the day, 7 days a week. You're competing against super computers processing immense data & trying to predict movements as well as human traders making decisions based purely off instinct. It's not really something you want to "ride" because those price movements aren't reflective of sound market dynamics. For example if you bought in on Jan 4th, you would have lost 30%+ by that same time 1 week later.

Allelujah - January 16, 2017, 4:19 pm

Fuck all this other nonsense. Invest into real estate. Save your money, find land or homes for cheap and buy it up my guy. Physical space will always hold value.

Olympus - January 16, 2017, 6:11 pm

I would have to agree with allelujah save your money and buy and rent out houses. But in the mean time save your money maybe invest into stocks and invest time in learning the stock market. Forex is also an awesome way to make money risky but the profits are worth it definitely need to study a lot and I recommend playing the demo for a couple of months before using real money. Just so you get a feel for it!

Hu??n?TeR? - January 17, 2017, 1:25 am

Thanks for the suggestions so far guys.

I don't think I have anywhere near enough capital to start playing with real estate but I'm going to have a look into FOREX and do some serious research before I jump in.

Olympus - January 17, 2017, 1:28 am

(Jan 17, 2017 02:25 AM)Hu??n?TeR? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks for the suggestions so far guys.

I don't think I have anywhere near enough capital to start playing with real estate but I'm going to have a look into FOREX and do some serious research before I jump in.

Best of luck buddy i would love to hear if you have any success or mistakes and if you have any questions regarding forex or investing in shares let me know. Good luck :D

Hu??n?TeR? - January 17, 2017, 1:32 am

(Jan 17, 2017 02:28 AM)Rexicon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Best of luck buddy i would love to hear if you have any success or mistakes and if you have any questions regarding forex or investing in shares let me know. Good luck :D

I certainly will, thank you?

Tiscali - January 17, 2017, 1:36 am

(Jan 17, 2017 02:25 AM)Hu??n?TeR? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks for the suggestions so far guys.

I don't think I have anywhere near enough capital to start playing with real estate but I'm going to have a look into FOREX and do some serious research before I jump in.

Be quiet on forex. Start with little amount. Try to understand leverage, stop loss, spike & market release

Lakai - January 17, 2017, 10:21 am

Forex is very risky homie, but if you play it right can be very profitable. I would prefer day trading and cutting your losses very quickly instead of Forex, but day trading is a new beast on its own. Good luck!

Hu??n?TeR? - January 17, 2017, 11:55 am

(Jan 17, 2017 11:21 AM)Taylor Bennett Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Forex is very risky homie, but if you play it right can be very profitable. I would prefer day trading and cutting your losses very quickly instead of Forex, but day trading is a new beast on its own. Good luck!

Thanks for the input

I made a FOREX demo account and turned £10,000 into £12,000 today.

I guess its a whole different thing with real money though

Lakai - January 17, 2017, 11:59 am

(Jan 17, 2017 12:55 PM)Hu??n?TeR? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks for the input

I made a FOREX demo account and turned £10,000 into £12,000 today.

I guess its a whole different thing with real money though

That's pretty dope haha, yeah it's an entirely different ball game. Keep researching and when you feel you are adequate go for it!

Stevensan - January 17, 2017, 12:03 pm

(Jan 17, 2017 12:55 PM)Hu??n?TeR? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks for the input

I made a FOREX demo account and turned £10,000 into £12,000 today.

I guess its a whole different thing with real money though

Don't even think about making a quick buck with forex. On the long term you will lose all of your money.

Allelujah - January 17, 2017, 12:38 pm

Buy foreclosed homes my guy. I am telling you right now. Physical space will always hold value unlike shares. A company could go kaboom over night.

Buy plots of land, foreclosed homes, whatever. Land value will continue to increase as world population increases.

I ask you to reconsider your choice. Save that money until you can buy something. Then rent it out, flip it or whatever.

Hu??n?TeR? - January 17, 2017, 12:45 pm

(Jan 17, 2017 01:38 PM)Allelujah Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Buy foreclosed homes my guy. I am telling you right now. Physical space will always hold value unlike shares. A company could go kaboom over night.

Buy plots of land, foreclosed homes, whatever. Land value will continue to increase as world population increases.

I ask you to reconsider your choice. Save that money until you can buy something. Then rent it out, flip it or whatever.

I intend to go into real estate eventually, I just wanted to make some bank to allow me to get there. But I understand that it's risky business.

yoghiHD - January 17, 2017, 1:39 pm

i am going to invest in real estate soon.

i need a bank for a loan and then i can go and rent it

Hu??n?TeR? - January 17, 2017, 2:00 pm

(Jan 17, 2017 02:39 PM)yoghiHD Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) i am going to invest in real estate soon.

i need a bank for a loan and then i can go and rent it

Good luck man

Allelujah - January 17, 2017, 2:37 pm

(Jan 17, 2017 02:39 PM)yoghiHD Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) i am going to invest in real estate soon.

i need a bank for a loan and then i can go and rent it

What is your location? Do NOT buy anything that you couldn't pay for the monthly on your own.

EziNet - January 18, 2017, 12:23 am

(Jan 16, 2017 05:19 PM)Allelujah Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Fuck all this other nonsense. Invest into real estate. Save your money, find land or homes for cheap and buy it up my guy. Physical space will always hold value.

3000 for Real Estate? ?

Allelujah - January 18, 2017, 1:07 am

(Jan 18, 2017 01:23 AM)BitMoney Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 3000 for Real Estate? ?

Save your money

Hu??n?TeR? - January 18, 2017, 1:48 am

(Jan 18, 2017 02:07 AM)Allelujah Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Save your money

Might take a while

sw1pp3r - January 18, 2017, 7:28 am

Seeing that you have a decent amount of money coming in you need to be careful.

What I would recommend if you want to start trading is that you learn a lot about it before you start throwing real money at it. Most people think that trading is easy, Once you start trading real money you will start to see your emotions and how they will change your trading.

If you decide to trade just make sure you understand everything properly

Hu??n?TeR? - January 18, 2017, 7:57 am

(Jan 18, 2017 08:28 AM)sw1pp3r Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Seeing that you have a decent amount of money coming in you need to be careful.

What I would recommend if you want to start trading is that you learn a lot about it before you start throwing real money at it. Most people think that trading is easy, Once you start trading real money you will start to see your emotions and how they will change your trading.

If you decide to trade just make sure you understand everything properly
I definitely will do my research, not in a hurry to jump into anything.

sw1pp3r - January 18, 2017, 9:48 am

(Jan 18, 2017 08:57 AM)Hu??n?TeR? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I definitely will do my research, not in a hurry to jump into anything.

Nice one, Also don't believe people who want to help you make money they won't

Blowpt1 - January 18, 2017, 9:50 am maybe short that shit AAPL before they release Q1 predictions at the end of this month

bjensen - January 19, 2017, 4:24 pm

The appeal of cryptos is evident, especially with BTC's recent spike (though it does seem like we have found our way back to balance--and still gaining). One of the safer ways to invest that amount of money is to do some reading/research into ETFs. They are relatively stable and allow you to benefit from the stock market without having to bet on a single stock (ETFs are bundles of stocks). Though each ETF is different, recently we have been seeing them double in value about every five years, which isn't a bad return considering that it requires relatively no work from you. I know I use mine kind of as a savings account that has a return that is actually worth it. If I ever have money just sitting around, I usually through it in one of the ETFs I've been watching.

? Quick ? - January 19, 2017, 4:47 pm

I would say buy all BTC you can and wait until it peaks again and sell it off.

Hu??n?TeR? - January 20, 2017, 1:17 am

(Jan 19, 2017 05:24 PM)bjensen Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The appeal of cryptos is evident, especially with BTC's recent spike (though it does seem like we have found our way back to balance--and still gaining). One of the safer ways to invest that amount of money is to do some reading/research into ETFs. They are relatively stable and allow you to benefit from the stock market without having to bet on a single stock (ETFs are bundles of stocks). Though each ETF is different, recently we have been seeing them double in value about every five years, which isn't a bad return considering that it requires relatively no work from you. I know I use mine kind of as a savings account that has a return that is actually worth it. If I ever have money just sitting around, I usually through it in one of the ETFs I've been watching.

Thank you for this reply, I've never heard of ETFs so I'll definitely have a look

MafiaPHP - January 20, 2017, 1:20 am

I would make a website with affiliate and apply for adwords to promote the site.

pirateasdf - January 25, 2017, 8:57 am

If your trust is in real estate, maybe REITs is worth looking at.

This is same what similar to stocks, but is invested in a company making money through property buying/selling or mortgages.

I'm no expert at this, but I'm sure the somebody here or the internet can explain REITs a little more in details.

Akagame - January 25, 2017, 4:35 pm

(Jan 16, 2017 04:45 AM)Hu??n?TeR? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So, I'm turning 18 in a month and I've got about £3000 heading my way.

Would just like to know what everyone would recommend I do.

Open to any suggestions

Thanks in advance guys

Forex, works for me and plenty of others. Hit me in telegram if you want more info on what I can do for you @HundredBlunts