Thread: Computers are cool... Really cool!

Eden - January 18, 2017, 4:02 am

Hey there my fellow law "abiding" citizens,

Who am I?

Good question?

What are my interests?

Well I like computers and finding ways to push them to there limits.

I'm particularly interested in binary exploitation and I'm hoping to learn more about it in the coming months.

What about beliefs?

I am a anarchist and am a strong believe in individual freedoms.

I hate the media and am tired of there cash driven click baity titles.

I want the internet to stay the way it is.

Some call it the wild west

Call it what you will

The internet is the face of freedom and the best means of expression we have today and probably ever will.

It is the true embodiment of what freedom should be

So keep it that way

DON'T CENSOR ARE INTERNET CAUSEYOU THINK ITS THE WILED WEST

WE. LIKE. IT. THAT. WAY.

Ok how about your skill set,

well,

Skills:

Programming:

-Python

-C

- and a bit of linux assembly (x86 intel syntax. I HATE AT&T I think its ugly as fuck but if you disagree thats fine)

System administration:

- Currently reading books on both windows and Linux system administration.

Networking:

- I know TCP/IP basics but don't ask me to set up a corp network for ya (;

OS concepts:

- I know a bit about OS concepts but not too much.

OK what about other interests?

When I'm not learning about computers or planing my latest "Prank" I'm playing video games or talking with friends

Or maybe I'll just take a walk and think about something deep.

Anyways all looking forward to talking to some like minded ppl

Regards,

That's quite the introduction! You're sure to find a group here who likes that. Read the Help Docs :)
