

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Thoughts so far on Peach?

Muddy - January 21, 2017, 10:33 am

So Peach is just a little project of mine I'm working on for fun on a VPS I have that I don't really use. It's designed to be a minimalist discussion forum with little to no use of plugins and has only few boards.

I'm not really ready for any activity or registrations but they are welcome as I build this site. At this point I'm looking at getting a new theme. I'm just using a free MyBB one right now that I merely edited.

peach.is

BorgEntomon - January 21, 2017, 10:54 am

I can't register. It says I've registered twice from my IP. I've never registered.
I also get a security warning when hitting your site. Bad ssl cert or something.

SIM-74411 - January 21, 2017, 11:27 am

I think you should change your niche to something specific to make good use of the domain potential.

Good luck with the forum.

Muddy - January 21, 2017, 11:55 am

(Jan 21, 2017 12:27 PM)shady Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think you should change your niche to something specific to make good use of the domain potential.

Good luck with the forum.

I did make this thread asking what to do with this domain
<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5528587>

Might make it into a NSFW site.

Thanks for your input man.