This look's shady tbh, you should make a video using the program and add it to your thread to show that its actually legit and not just a folder with alot of virus crap. Anyways good luck with the free screen recorder, and im not trying to sound negative but im just helping you out.

OBS Does Not Give You The Same Results It Will Record Your Screen Sure But If You Want To Overlay Your Web Cam You're Going To Have To Record That Separately And Then Do Post production work syncing the two separate files up.

Our software is ideal for

- Product Review where you are the presenter
- Product Creation where you want a more personal engaging in video feel
- Simple one click rendering and stupid simple set up / use.

OBS Is meant for twitch streamers which is essentially a totally different end user.

You don't need to record webcam separately.. It can be done in the software if you use OBS Studio which comes with more features
