Thread: [Flower \[Concept art\]](#)

Sejskaler - January 22, 2017, 6:57 am

With more focus on conceptual art recently, I finished a piece.

I have been extremely lazy with a lot of pieces, and frankly, only finished 2 over the last couple of weeks.

Either way, here you go:

Yes, the focus is rather off, due to some late corrections

Bonus anime grill:

I don't like bonus pic, blue color is bad with him

I barely noticed the flower in the first piece. There is too much bright elements surrounding it that take your attention. It is also very small to be the subject matter in my opinion. I really like the second but I feel the lines could've been much smoother which would've made it look a lot nicer.

That's fair, I mean, it's just an experiment :P

I see, to me it feels like the flower is standing out quite a lot, but I could probably do some stronger lines, so it doesn't seem blurry, to really put it in focus.

For the bonus pic, yea, I made a mistake in threshold when moving it from SAI to AI, so the lines are really fucked up from the original, I kind of wanted to fix it, but ended up just letting it be, that's why it's a bonus pic :P

Great work, liked it, good luck.

So beautiful, but it was hard to spot the flower. A Scenery was a little too bright and overwhelming, but fantastic overall.

Anime grill looks pretty bad lol, but the flower thing looks pretty decent apart from the focus issue that you mentioned.

With more practice and more time spent on the piece your work will start to look really good. Keep it up.
