Thread: Do you wear a watch?

Do You Want To Bet - January 25, 2017, 12:38 am

Hey guys just wondering if any of you wear watches? If so what are you wearing?

I have been slowly getting into watches more and more. If i like i watch ill buy it i dont care if its a no name or not.

Do you wear a watch just because of the brand? Or because you think it looks good?

Here are a few i am thinking of buying

Whats your style of watch?

oo side note this was my 1337 post :)

ChaoticForce - January 25, 2017, 12:40 am

I dont wear watches but I would go with the far top right.... looks more classy test - January 25, 2017, 12:40 am

I've never been one for accessories like watches or necklaces and things like that. The only watch I wear is a cheap $5 one from China. Looks decent enough and whenever I ask people how much they think it cost, everyone says like $80-$100.

Who Soup - January 25, 2017, 12:45 am

I prefer #2.

#1 looks too light and high end for what I wear

#3 looks like I'm a vegan who shops at Down to earth and works at the Apple Store and loves my job

Heart - January 25, 2017, 12:45 am i wear a watch because sometimes i like to know the time without checking my phone

SIM-2580909 - January 25, 2017, 12:54 am

Yeah, I constantly check it.

It's this shitty 20$ CASIO watch.

Can you link me to the watch lol, got interested.

SIM-3257834 - January 25, 2017, 1:00 am

I wear a Moto 360 because I'm a classy toaster.

xitoxic - January 25, 2017, 1:01 am yeah I also wear a Fossil Chronograph black watch.

Looks good

I still wear a watch these days even though I don't check time at all, it's just that I'm used to have something on my hand and I feel I'm missing something if I don't have it...

I currently wear an all black Apple Watch. It's honestly the most comfortable watch I've ever worn. It's very nice aesthetically too and it's an all around basic/respected watch. Before this I had a Fitbit Surge.

I have a metal Armani watch which I wear when I go out to parties.

I want a Daniel Wellington leather strap for everyday wear.

Why in the world would you use a calculator on your smart watch? it would be so much faster on your phone...

I mean if you sold your house and your phone to get an apple watch.... then yes ?

dios. - January 25, 2017, 1:34 am

I wear watches everyday mainly for work though.
I like the first one the best

Daddy???????????? - January 25, 2017, 1:34 am

I prefer the top left as I like the minimalistic design.

This is the watch I have and I love it :D

Raptor. - January 25, 2017, 2:40 am

I have a Samsung Gear I wear typically, but also a Cartier I wear when I go out.

Vitani - January 25, 2017, 2:42 am

I only wear a watch occasionally. I don't really need it because I already have a smartphone, but a nice watch is definitely a must have when I put on a fancy suit.

TowerOfTheNorth - January 25, 2017, 2:51 am

I've got a small digital casio watch. I'll still use the hand my watch is on to pull my phone out to check the time though.

LOL I didnt even notice must of saw something more interesting like that guy who can pull out his phone with his cock

SIM-2580909 - January 25, 2017, 3:31 am

I find it kind of rude to check the time from a phone... That's why I use a my extremist Muslim bomb as a portable clock

Comes with a full-sized ak-47 iphone case?

Skin - January 25, 2017, 3:45 am

I wear a sexy gold Jarager watch, wearing it for the good look.

Tigri - January 25, 2017, 11:05 am

I can't leave home without having a watch on my wrist. Currently wearing a Omega Seamaster Planet Ocean.

ven0m - January 25, 2017, 11:06 am

Wrist-watch and fountain-pen--these two have been my company since junior school.

Same here

theChive - January 25, 2017, 11:07 am

I started wearing a watch last semester mostly as an accessory, but it's also nice to have something to quickly and easily check the time without pulling out a phone during a small lecture.

ErrorTM - January 25, 2017, 11:08 am

I wear a Apple Watch and a Fitbit Charge 2.

ZuGgY - January 25, 2017, 11:09 am

Honestly I usually just wear a sports watch (i.e. Ironman), they're durable, battery for 10 years, so I'm good :)

+ not as expensive

Imlerith - January 25, 2017, 11:29 am i like the first one looks the most classy lol :)
