Here is my honest review for the product Micro Office Builder

Images: Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Basically, you upload your payload to a site and then place the direct link to your payload. This will then build a Macro which allows you to create a Microsoft Document which will execute your payload in the background. So far the product is working and I will post scan results if I have MS WORD installed. But I have given suggestions to the developer(s) for further improvement of the product.

Your pricing seem to be a bit confusing, I will like to buy this but have a few question?, I will assume its macro doc exploit from your name MICRO that you have. Are you selling that generates the .doc file? or one that generates the codes and have to setup from there. 2. Does it have support for xls?

I bought this 2 days ago and was having issues, didnt seem to work. I contacted seller via PM and Jabber but was ignored until I post on this thread then quickly PM came in saying they some guy will contact me for support. I had a brief chat with the "support admin" but problem continued. He didnt solve nothing and I contacted seller again on here and Jabber but no single word said by them.

I would not say the product is shitty but can say that it never worked for me and the support they provide is just a waste of time.

Seller asked me to provide review after purchase and I believe I have provided an honest review of the product.

Basically, you upload your payload to a site and then place the direct link to your payload. This will then build a Macro which allows you to create a Microsoft Document which will execute your payload in the background. So far the product is working and I will post scan results if I have MS WORD installed. But I have given suggestions to the developer(s) for further improvement of the product.

Hello Tom Cruise I have been following your post and I can see that you have a good understanding of things here. I would have sent you a PM but dont have the rep for that yet and haven't gotten many post. Please I need advise on getting a Good Silent Exploit here some have said that It's better to just get a Micro Exploit I see that this product is good. What I am seeking is a product that has the Keylogger Builder, Crypter, Exploit Builder all in one can you please point me in the Right direction once again sorry for the open letter payload in the background. So far the product is working and I will post scan results if I have MS WORD installed. But I have given suggestions to the developer(s) for further improvement of the product.
