Many times - almost daily.. I use the search bar and when you are trying to find something in specific and a 30+ pages.. It's hard to find!

I was wondering if we couple implement almost something such as this:

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Where you could click on the thread and have a link for a direct post where the search result was located.

Or if there is a way to already do this, let me know! ?

I'm sure there was a userscript for this, I can't remember if it was in the HF enchantment suite or Xerotic's one.

I think that's an awesome idea, I too would benefit from this

Bottom right of the search box, select Show results by post instead of thread. Is that what you're talking about? They take you to the exact post the word was used
