If it sinks, it's a girl. If it doesn't, it's a boy ant.

You seem intrested in ants,

Ill share this channel with you : <https://www.youtube.com/user/AntsCanada/videos>

Quite interesting?

I'm quite skeptical of this because when I was a very young child I'd drown ants, then resuscitate them (yes that's possible) and repeat the process until I could no longer resuscitate them, but not once while drowning these ants do I ever remember any of them sinking, I'd have to fully fill up a class then put something over the top of the glass.

I guess it wasn't clear enough that it was a joke? Boy ant sounds like buoyant (floating).
