Thread: The C++ Section deserves no limitations

Staff members i understand that you're uneducated and truly hate the C++ language due to it's complexity.

Implementing a limitation due to "trolls" and "spam" is flawed logic. Through the use of empirical evidence I have discovered that the lounge is infested with trolls and there is nothing done about them, this also includes the botnet section. The c/c++ section contains the majority of (if not all) intelligent members on this forum and you decide to limit them. There is something else going on here, it's definitely not because of spam, or "trolls"; considering most amount of spam occurs else where.

I suggest removing the prestige limit from the C/C++ section to increase website traffic, and content. This will benefit both you and I.
