Thread: Half of Skull

PYR3 - February 1, 2017, 5:21 pm

Made a sketch of skull then used pens to do the rest. First time using pens for shadowing and kinda messed up in some areas but i think it turned out great. Tell me what you all think and give me some feedback so i can improve my drawings ?

I like it!

Good job :) It feels like it pops out of the page

Looks pretty awesome bro! Keep up the world maybe add some color? but black and white looks dope too! Well done

I like the idea of it. The polygonal or cyber side of the skull could use some retouching. Take examples from diamond or opal fragments and follow the structure in order to create depth with triangles and such. Keep practicing the shading. Crossing the lines over a bit too much. As for the straight lines with the horizontal small lines make it look like stitches, unless that was your intent. Keep it up.

Cheers.

Looks awesome man!

I honestly give it a 10/10

Not into skulls, but it looks amazing ?

That's amazing, you should make that into a logo

Very nice drawing, good use of positioning on the page. To be picky I would say to round any jaggedness, and maybe touch up the nose connection to the face. Otherwise, beautiful job and I like the way you gave it a background frame to come out of.
