

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Update: ---- MADE \$27,247 STOCK EXCHANGING IN 34 days! -- 2016 PROFIT \$120,000 USD

Wolf of Wall Street - February 1, 2017, 10:01 pm

MENTORING NOW AVAILABLE HERE: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5554060>

WARNING HUGE PICTURES, SMALL AMOUNT OF CASH, AND STOCK NET WORTH ONE OF MY STOCK TRADING ACCOUNTS.

<https://hatscripts.com/addskype?live%3Awallstreethf>

----- Long but worth it to read, how I made a considerable amount of money exchanging stocks. I am not typing this up to brag in any means, I am just tired of seeing people on this forum whom use methods like E-Whoring or scamming as a primary source of income, when you could be making 1000 times more, legitimately, with little to no work, that is if you have an intelligent brain and can take the time and effort to devote yourself into something MUCH more ETHICAL, PROFITABLE, and RESPECTABLE.

[align=center]MENTORING NOW AVAILABLE HERE:
<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5554060>

I am simply typing this on my free time, in hopes that this can help those who read it. If you thought this was a helpful, inspiring, or useless post, please let me know below in a reply and I will gladly answer ANY OF THE QUESTIONS YOU GUYS HAVE FOR ME. If this gets A CONSIDERABLE AMOUNT OF ATTENTION, I will spend much more time writing up a FREE tutorial, which is more in depth, on how to pick and chose your stocks and when to buy and sell them. Thank you for your time, to read and please do not hesitate to ask any questions you have in mind.

----- For starters, I have been in the stock market "business" or "game" whatever you want to perceive it as, for around 7-8 years. At first I was just using the Stock Market as investing purposes but that was way to slow and profits were never stable, let alone, the amount of money I would lose or gain was extremely MINISCULE compared to the costs and risks in which I was investing. This finally clicked in my head after so long that things needed to change or else I would continue living paycheck to paycheck, hustling whatever I could in order to make money to afford all of my bills and overcome my debt I had built up from student loans, multiple credit cards, medical bills... the list goes on. Last month I made over $27,247 USD flipping a select few stocks on a daily basis.

----- After a year or so of getting absolutely nowhere and investing my life savings with little to NO/ZERO return, I decided to change things around and try out a different method that I thought of based on the fact that long term investing just was not making me nearly the amount of profits I was expecting, compared to the stress and risks involved in doing so. Last year I have made over $120,000 USD. I am not very young, but I am in between the ages of 25-35 years old. I started my adventure the wrong way losing money and investing in long term, popular stocks, in which shares would cost in between $5,000 USD and $15,000 USD.

----- After quite some time, I've FINALLY figured out how to precisely pick my stocks, when to buy them and when to correctly sell them for profits that greatly exceeded my needs. This took me almost 2 and a half FULL years of trial and error. But it was well worth it, as now I am able to finally relax and enjoy life to its fullest potential, as all of you on this forum truly deserve.

----- I am willing to help people to some extent for free (how to decide which stocks to buy, provide basic information or answer any questions that are left out in this post, and more.) I will NOT be giving out my personal methods/stocks that I chose at ANY cost as I don't think there's a price to put on it, unless you have as much stock market experience as myself and can prove it, and want to work as a partnership. The experience and learning from my mistakes, was well worth it in fact, has now given me the proper knowledge and experience to profit on almost every trade I make. This still shocks not only myself, but my entire family, whom have witnessed every step of me starting from absolutely nothing, living pay check to paycheck, to rolling in anywhere from $75,000 to $180,000 USD per year. In NO way am I saying I am the "master" or "god" at this kind of exchanging but I would say I am above 90% of the people who exchange stocks when it comes to my TRUE profits/success rates in such an effortless, amazing journey that I think you should all explore if you get the chance..

[b]MENTORING NOW AVAILABLE HERE: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5554060>

----- Firstly, for those whom are considering trying their luck in the stock EMPIRE, I would suggest looking into stocks, let me rephrase that, [b]RESEARCHING AND ANALYZING WITH PRECISION, and searching for cheaper stocks that fluctuate a considerable amount, what I mean by that is find a stock in which its price changes by at least 10-20% weekly. I would suggest starting with smaller penny stocks that are worth pennies or even FRACTIONS of pennies to begin with and MAXIMIZE profits in a short period of time, with little effort induced into your journey. The reason why this is so extremely successful is because when a stock worth $0.01, and it increases in value, it usually increases by 25% increments, which is insanely profitable, or insanely unprofitable depending on your ability to identify when to buy your stock or stocks, in which you researched and analyzed and watched CAREFULLY, at the correct time, and then finally when to sell them for a decent profit without being to greedy.

----- I would suggest based on my experience to find a stock/stocks that continuously fluctuates a considerable amount. Then watch it/them VERY CLOSELY for a few weeks or even months before investing a large portion of your money. I use an application on my phone to monitor my MANY stocks and monitor all of the price changes and study it for a few weeks to play it safe. I keep track in a physical notebook, or you can use a Office Excel table to log down daily increases and decreases of the stock/stocks you are monitoring before investing. Once you figure out the shares typical lowest price, and highest price, put some money (that you can afford to either profit or lose because it is always a risk..) (cont. from.. Put some money) into that stock when it is at/near the lowest price you have identified that it consistently drops to, before it starts to increase in price.

----- To play it safe, do not hold onto your shares until each shares price is close to a safe, profitable, price that you've figured out after analyzing that particular stock over a decent time period, before selling your shares (amount of the stock you own).

[b]MENTORING NOW AVAILABLE HERE: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5554060>

----- As stated above, I made $27,247 in the last 34 days. I invested in a stock that was worth fractions of a penny. I was able to flip it multiple times(if not hundreds of times within a 34 day period) (buying millions of shares at a safe, carefully decided low price, then posting a sell ALL offer for those same purchased shares for the decided high price that I was able to identify would be profitable enough for me to be happy, but not to be too greedy). This stock would change by 25%-50% daily and I was investing all the money I was profiting as well. [/b]

----- Moral of all I have explained above in a not so time consuming matter, I would suggest to those who are interested, check out the profitability of flipping stocks and do your research correctly or else this will not be something you will be successful in making outstanding profits with some, but not too much of a risk.

----- Always remember, NEVER invest what you are not willing to lose. I just felt the need to share my personal experience in hopes that it would inspire, or at least make some of you reconsider doing things like e-whoring, compulsively gambling game items or Bitcoin on websites that are created to profit from people who cannot stop playing their game which the house wins in a much greater fashion then the player does.

----- If you enjoyed this post, or learned anything from it, PLEASE do not be afraid to post below with your thoughts, thankfulness, or questions you might have for me. My skype is posted below a few times if anyone wishes to speak with me in private. Thank you for your time to read this entire post if you've made it this far, I wish you the best of luck in whatever you decide to do with your abilities and hope you all have a bright future.

MENTORING NOW AVAILABLE HERE: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5554060>

<https://hatscripts.com/addskype?live%3Awallstreethf>

queonda - February 1, 2017, 10:31 pm

That's legit! Really wish I had the time and money to get into stock trading

Wolf of Wall Street - February 1, 2017, 11:44 pm

(Feb 1, 2017 11:31 PM)queonda Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's legit! Really wish I had the time and money to get into stock trading Yeah man , its time consuming but also a risky business. If you can start learning now, it will benefit you a lot in the future. Let me know if you need help with anything.

Lavish Living - February 1, 2017, 11:47 pm

very nice, think ill get into penny stock trading soon enough, just need some starting capitol haha

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 12:30 am

(Feb 2, 2017 12:47 AM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) very nice, think ill get into penny stock trading soon enough, just need some starting capitol haha

I started a few years ago with only a $2,200 investment. I've made a few hundred thousand with the stock market over the last 8 years. It's pretty nice, but sometimes it can be difficult because it's ALWAYS a gamble. But if you do your research right, you can make insane profits with not nearly as much risk. I would never invest in the popular stocks such as DOW/NASDAQ/S&P500 just because of the fact that everyone does it, unless you are looking for a long term investment then It wouldnt be to bad of an idea. But it's much more worth it to make a few thousand a month flipping stocks, buying when low, selling when they increase by a decent amount, and repeating that process with a few select stocks that you can find that fluctuate a considerable amount, these stocks must also be pretty cheap as well, because if you have something thats worth 2 pennys, and it goes up to 3 pennys, your entire invested amount in the shares, just profited you much more then you would have if you waited a year on some shit stock like NASDAQ.

My skype: MrGuWopHF@gmail.com

Let me know if anyone has any basic questions etc.

Knucklez. - February 2, 2017, 12:39 am

Pretty nice of you to offer help. What's the largest amount of $ that you've risked at one time? If I may ask..

b613 - February 2, 2017, 12:51 am impressive mr. guwop very kind to offer your help and insights.

Where exactly did you start your investing? and if you were starting from scratch today what would you do differently?

TheChi?f - February 2, 2017, 12:55 am

Grats to you for making such good profit in a month.

I might also study about this after I graduate.

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 1:07 am

(Feb 2, 2017 01:39 AM)Knucklez. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Pretty nice of you to offer help. What's the largest amount of $ that you've risked at one time? If I may ask..

I risk thousands daily, I wouldnt really call it a risk in my opinion because i've been doing this so long I can basically tell when to purchase the specific stocks, and when to sell them.

I only buy/sell about 10-15 different stocks. Ranging form $0.005 each at cheapest, and the most expensive ones I really invest in is in the 20-30$ range, and I will only invest in those if I know for sure they will be going up. I have a lot of friends who work as brokers on Wall Street, so we are always in contact on skype as they also buy/sell stocks like I do.

ST4RL0RD - February 2, 2017, 1:08 am

For further training how much would you charge, send me with a PM of your rates.

Really interested. I made £7k in a few days with binary trading but then lost like £3k so called it a day.

Would be interested in learning to trade outside of forex and binary.

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 1:10 am

(Feb 2, 2017 01:55 AM)TheChi?f Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Grats to you for making such good profit in a month.

I might also study about this after I graduate.

That is what I did after I got my associates degree, could not figure out a Major I would enjoy. Then the only thing I could think of what I really liked doing was:

Selling things, and making money. So this fit my needs well.

Also my father lost over a million in the market crash back when I was just a child, and that kind of inspired me to make the money back that he lost, as I was extremely poor when we were growing up, countless nights without meals, etc. He is old now and is doing much better. I am just thankful I can make enough from my experience to help him and my mother live well, as they deserve it since they busted their asses and raised me correctly and put my through school on a loan they couldn't afford, which I was able to pay back of course.

Zexo - February 2, 2017, 1:12 am

Nice earnings the stock market can fuck you though. Dad messed around in it a little and ended up always coming out dry.

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 1:13 am

(Feb 2, 2017 01:51 AM)b613 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) impressive mr. guwop very kind to offer your help and insights.

Where exactly did you start your investing? and if you were starting from scratch today what would you do differently?

What I would do differently is do some more research into each specific stock and watch them closely for a larger amount of time before being irrational and purchasing them without really knowing what I am investing in.

Thanks for everyones interest.

(Feb 2, 2017 02:12 AM)Zexo Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nice earnings the stock market can fuck you though. Dad messed around in it a little and ended up always coming out dry.

Same as mine, if you read my post above the one you did. :/

b613 - February 2, 2017, 1:33 am

(Feb 2, 2017 02:13 AM)Mr Guwop Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What I would do differently is do some more research into each specific stock and watch them closely for a larger amount of time before being irrational and purchasing them without really knowing what I am investing in.

Thanks for everyones interest.

Same as mine, if you read my post above the one you did. :/

Thanks again for the insight. So really its all about doing research and staying informed.

about how much time do you spend researching stocks and the factors affecting them? (the corporation, CEO/CFO, current events, etc)

I am thinking about starting out with paper trading penny stocks to develop a system/ learn without investing real cash.

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 1:37 am

(Feb 2, 2017 02:33 AM)b613 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks again for the insight. So really its all about doing research and staying informed.

about how much time do you spend researching stocks and the factors affecting them? (the corporation, CEO/CFO, current events, etc)

I am thinking about starting out with paper trading penny stocks to develop a system/ learn without investing real cash.

I would have to say I spend at least 8 hours a day researching, looking up current events, new products that could be going on market for technology based stocks. I made a smart investment today on a stock called AMD, as one of my Wall Street friends informed me of something that could potentially make it skyrocket. It went up 17% yesterday (if you look up the AMD stock it won't say it raised today , because currently the trading hours are over)

Made a pretty decent amount from that. And sold it back instantly for a pretty nice profit :)

Really can't remember the last time I lost a significant amount of money to be honest. But that's only because I've been doing this for so long.

I would have to say I spend at least 8 hours a day researching, looking up current events, new products that could be going on market for technology based stocks. I made a smart investment today on a stock called AMD, as one of my Wall Street friends informed me of something that could potentially make it skyrocket. It went up 17% yesterday (if you look up the AMD stock it won't say it raised today , because currently the trading hours are over)

Made a pretty decent amount from that. And sold it back instantly for a pretty nice profit :)

Really can't remember the last time I lost a significant amount of money to be honest. But that's only because I've been doing this for so long.

Arrogance - February 2, 2017, 11:28 am

It is very obnoxious to read in such a big font.

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 11:29 am

(Feb 2, 2017 12:28 PM)Arrogance Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It is very obnoxious to read in such a big font. Thank you for your input kind sir.

Zexo - February 2, 2017, 12:24 pm

(Feb 2, 2017 02:37 AM)Mr Guwop Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would have to say I spend at least 8 hours a day researching, looking up current events, new products that could be going on market for technology based stocks. I made a smart investment today on a stock called AMD, as one of my Wall Street friends informed me of something that could potentially make it skyrocket. It went up 17% yesterday (if you look up the AMD stock it won't say it raised today , because currently the trading hours are over)

Made a pretty decent amount from that. And sold it back instantly for a pretty nice profit :)

Really can't remember the last time I lost a significant amount of money to be honest. But that's only because I've been doing this for so long.

I would have to say I spend at least 8 hours a day researching, looking up current events, new products that could be going on market for technology based stocks. I made a smart investment today on a stock called AMD, as one of my Wall Street friends informed me of something that could potentially make it skyrocket. It went up 17% yesterday (if you look up the AMD stock it won't say it raised today, because currently the trading hours are over)

Made a pretty decent amount from that. And sold it back instantly for a pretty nice profit :)

Really can't remember the last time I lost a significant amount of money to be honest. But that's only because I've been doing this for so long.

Damn I was out eating dinner with my family and got bored so I was checking the stock market and I was so close to investing in amd. Figured they would rise up quite a bit but at least my hunch was right.

richlx - February 2, 2017, 12:26 pm is this like day trading? What is your take on forex and futures .

Anubis - February 2, 2017, 12:28 pm

Buy me epic membership and I'll believe you ?

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 12:33 pm

(Feb 2, 2017 01:24 PM)Zexo Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Damn I was out eating dinner with my family and got bored so I was checking the stock market and I was so close to investing in amd. Figured they would rise up quite a bit but at least my hunch was right.

Yeah man I had a good run with AMD, I bought a bunch of shares at 10.38 around 3 days ago, just dumped all my shares about an hour/ hour and half ago for 12.58 each. Good enough for me, Already dropping a bit. I would not invest in it now in my opinion. If it went above 13$ this week I would be surprised.

(Feb 2, 2017 12:28 PM)Arrogance Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It is very obnoxious to read in such a big font. Changed font to a smaller size, hope its a bit more user friendly. Sorry I am not the best thread designer in the world, I just wanted to bold/make a different color for some of the more important aspects.

(Feb 2, 2017 01:26 PM)richlx Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) is this like day trading? What is your take on forex and futures .

I don't pay much attention to stock futures I feel like it is similar to watching the weather channel in my experience. Can be useful, but can lead you in the wrong belief quite often. I would not necessarily call it like day trading, as sometimes I hold onto my stocks for quite some time. It all depends what they are doing and how much the shares cost each, and what I've invested. I don't really know what to call it. I just do my own thing. I use an Office Excel sheet, keep track of around 200 stocks and watch them for quite some time. Decide which ones to invest in, and when to invest in them to get them at the cheapest possible price, or right when they just start raising in price. I then sell the same stock for a bit under market price right when it starts to slow down from increasing so much. I have a few friends who invest in stocks with me and we sort of work as a team, though we do not pump and dump.

ZYZZBRAHH - February 3, 2017, 5:01 am

you ever make good $ ratting people?

Yin Yang - February 3, 2017, 5:11 am

I added you via Skype- teach me your ways, Yoda

ZYZZBRAHH - February 4, 2017, 1:00 am

how much in quantity is those 100? like I guess 35

Bluffer - February 4, 2017, 1:03 am

With your OP I would think you are trying to sell something! Nice job though.

lud foe - February 4, 2017, 1:18 am im very curious about the initial start up for stock trading. im gonna shoot you a message on skype and when you've got a chance we'll have a chat. great earnings though!

J. McCarthy - February 4, 2017, 11:01 am

Well I definitely wouldn't call it the wolf of wall street haha but it's a nice job.

My only suggestion would be remove all the bold font and make it more readable

Voxi - February 4, 2017, 11:06 am

I would like to learn more about this. Shame I'm not over 18.

J. McCarthy - February 4, 2017, 11:07 am

(Feb 4, 2017 12:06 PM)Notorious• Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would like to learn more about this. Shame I'm not over 18.

you can setup etrade accounts with a parent/guardian

luxity - February 4, 2017, 9:56 pm

Posting here just for future references

mvmt - February 4, 2017, 11:00 pm

Great earnings but please chill with all the "look here I made $27k" and "the real wolf of wall street" shit, its a tad too much lol

Lockheed - February 4, 2017, 11:07 pm

im impressed dude.

Im wanting to get into the forex/stock exchange game but dont really know when or how.

Gave me something to aim for ;)

Meowth - February 4, 2017, 11:10 pm

Very nice evenings. I have been able to profit but it is mainly just something I do for fun. However, it would be nice to make a career out of it.

Would you mind creating a video showing your earnings just to prove this isn't inspect element?

Wolf of Wall Street - February 5, 2017, 6:11 am

(Feb 5, 2017 12:10 AM)Borderlands Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Very nice evenings. I have been able to profit but it is mainly just something I do for fun. However, it would be nice to make a career out of it.

Would you mind creating a video showing your earnings just to prove this isn't inspect element?

Yes I will be doing this once I sell the current stocks I have invested in. Might be a week or two. Numbers will be higher of course though ;)

RS-4 - February 5, 2017, 9:37 am

Good work. I'm currently starting off with a $1600 portfolio - I'll see how it goes. :)

investmentanalyst - February 5, 2017, 11:08 am

You are paying a ton of money in commissions. You should switch brokers to a more cost friendly one.

I recommend Interactive Brokers.

Wolf of Wall Street - February 5, 2017, 2:26 pm

(Feb 5, 2017 12:08 PM)investmentanalyst Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You are paying a ton of money in commissions. You should switch brokers to a more cost friendly one.

I recommend Interactive Brokers.

agreed, but I have an upgraded account on etrade in which I do not have to pay as much fees as a normal account.

? Quick ? - February 5, 2017, 7:00 pm

Nice earnings. Any tips for me, I want to get into this.

Life - February 6, 2017, 4:25 am

Posting here to read tomorrow! Thanks for the share mate! and grats on the earnings :) very nice!

I plan to save $100K from my job in 4 years and then I want to invest it and grow it safely so maybe this might help me :O !!

Conundrum Account - February 6, 2017, 5:19 am

This is what I come to the Bragging Rights section for. Great write up and good advice. I've added you on Skype to see if you could give me a few tips. Thanks!

edon - February 6, 2017, 10:59 am

(Feb 5, 2017 12:00 AM)Fade? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Great earnings but please chill with all the "look here I made $27k" and "the real wolf of wall street" shit, its a tad too much lol its bragging section mate , get over it. This is actually nothing compared to some others how they boast themselves making just 2 fucking dollars or finishing an exam.

affluence - February 6, 2017, 12:54 pm

Are you using price action and analysis... naked perhaps?

mlkr - February 7, 2017, 4:38 am

Wow, this is impressive. I'm thinking about learning stock exchanging and making money. I don't have too much too invest, do you recommend it?

Press the Button - February 7, 2017, 11:17 am

I am so interested in this, and would love to join the stock game, but have no idea where to start.

yoshilean - February 7, 2017, 8:26 pm

Hey im 15 years if i save up to 1,000$ im at 500 right now can i do this? Idk if theres a age requirement or do they not cate???h

UnFamed - February 8, 2017, 12:24 pm

I would be interested I have money that can be invested. If your a serious guy ill add you on Skype and we can talk.

Thanks

Wolf of Wall Street - February 10, 2017, 9:12 pm

(Feb 8, 2017 01:24 PM)UnFamed Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would be interested I have money that can be invested. If your a serious guy ill add you on Skype and we can talk.

Thanks

sure, add me on skype. My skype is next to my username

RottenTomatoes - February 10, 2017, 10:18 pm popular "stocks" (lol) like the s&p somehow lose money, despite 6% historical CAGR and double-digit YTD returns over the past 8 years. cool

an undiversified portfolio based on wildly speculative penny stocks provides Warren Buffett-level returns with 0 losses. cool

guys, this is a meme thread, for the love of god please consult an actual investment book or other legitimate resource

Rolex? - February 11, 2017, 10:13 am

(Feb 10, 2017 11:18 PM)RottenTomatoes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) popular "stocks" (lol) like the s&p somehow lose money, despite 6% historical CAGR and double-digit YTD returns over the past 8 years. cool

an undiversified portfolio based on wildly speculative penny stocks provides Warren Buffett-level returns with 0 losses. cool

guys, this is a meme thread, for the love of god please consult an actual investment book or other legitimate resource

Investing in the S&P at young ages is practically purposeless. 6% yearly growth is practically nothing. Not to mention the S&P won't continue to rise forever. We're in a bullish trend but that could end. A singular company whether it be penny, blue chip, large cap, or small cap. Will generally give you much, much, much, much, much, much, much, much better returns than the S&P if you know what you're doing.

SZociety - February 12, 2017, 12:15 am

Taxes on that are going to be a bitch.

TropicalStorm - February 12, 2017, 12:19 am

Amazing, am glad there's people like you in this world

Wolf of Wall Street - February 12, 2017, 9:16 pm

(Feb 12, 2017 01:19 AM)TropicalStorm Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Amazing, am glad there's people like you in this world let me know if you have any questions bud, this thread has been getting quite a large amount of attention so please don't be offended if I do not get back to you on a timely manor.

Best regaurds,

Mr Guwop ???

gex231 - February 14, 2017, 12:51 am

Hello,

Thank you very much for taking the time to create this thread. I am extremely interested in forex/stock trading and have been playing around for the past 2-3 years seeing if I can get something to work. So far absolutely everything has eventually crumbled and turned out to be unprofitable.

I've added you on skype, if it would be possible for you to simply explain to me What website you recommend, what mobile app I should be checking, and just generally what goes through your head when you go from "this stock looks promising" to "I should buy the stock now/at this price". It would be greatly appreciated.

I make enough to be able to invest about €1k-1.5k a month and I would want to start off as early as possible for obvious reasons. Currently I'm 20 and looking to actually start profiting as soon as possible so I can enjoy life the way it's meant to be enjoyed rather than working for someone who pays me a fraction of what they make from my work.

Thank you once again for taking the time to read this and hopefully the time you take to write me a reply.

deebxx - February 15, 2017, 12:00 pm

So why i cant make more than $20 xD

Tofu20 - February 15, 2017, 12:31 pm

where do you research your penny stocks?

Wolf of Wall Street - February 15, 2017, 5:43 pm

(Feb 15, 2017 01:31 PM)Tofu20 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) where do you research your penny stocks?

Contact me on skype, please remember

I have lots of people contacting me

Phisher - February 15, 2017, 7:53 pm

Great read man, super motivational post! Curious what your opinion is on the Forex market?

caboosechurch - February 15, 2017, 8:16 pm

Hey, I have a bunch of questions. I recently started day trading. Added you on Skype as well!

Wolf of Wall Street - February 16, 2017, 3:05 pm

(Feb 15, 2017 09:16 PM)caboosechurch Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hey, I have a bunch of questions. I recently started day trading. Added you on Skype as well!

Was great talking to you kind sir.

Yin Yang - February 16, 2017, 3:06 pm

Respond to your skype you basturd

Wolf of Wall Street - February 16, 2017, 3:11 pm

(Feb 16, 2017 04:06 PM)Yin Yang Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Respond to your skype you basturd YO MESSAGE ME I HAVE NO UNREAD MESSAGES

#record speeds

investmentanalyst - February 16, 2017, 6:53 pm

(Feb 11, 2017 11:13 AM)Rolex? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Investing in the S&P at young ages is practically purposeless. 6% yearly growth is practically nothing. Not to mention the S&P won't continue to rise forever. We're in a bullish trend but that could end. A singular company whether it be penny, blue chip, large cap, or small cap. Will generally give you much, much, much, much, much, much, much, much better returns than the S&P if you know what you're doing.

6% growth is a good return. Your account is just too small to realize it.

6% return on 10 billion is pretty good.

When your account is large enough, you'll realize you need something called liquidity. Penny stocks have practically no liquidity.

Just like when my boss said to liquidate $400 million worth of Citibank bonds in a DAY ? I laughed and said I can't... that's impossible. Can't liquidate that much without influencing the price and causing a sell off.

So back on topic, 6% on a small account of course is nothing, but 6% on a good size account is not bad. You will need a pretty decent alpha to beat market perform.

Does anyone else question why the screenshot's daily gain is 21% return on his entire portfolio?

That would make his net account value only 19,462.

gex231 - February 17, 2017, 12:04 am

Vouch so much for this guy. Followed his advice, first stock pick went up 40%.

I cannot explain how happy I am I started talking to you. You're the man Guwop! ?

Wolf of Wall Street - February 17, 2017, 6:42 pm

(Feb 17, 2017 01:04 AM)gex231 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Vouch so much for this guy. Followed his advice, first stock pick went up 40%.

I cannot explain how happy I am I started talking to you. You're the man Guwop! ?

Glad you enjoyed sir!

I told you I'd keep you under my wing bud.

update: new sales thread now!

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5554060>

sh4dow.gg - February 18, 2017, 9:45 am

Good job. Been reading about stock market a lot lately, gonna start soon

Wolf of Wall Street - February 18, 2017, 5:02 pm

(Feb 18, 2017 10:45 AM)sh4dow.gg Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Good job. Been reading about stock market a lot lately, gonna start soon

Good decision, it takes practice. Don't be greedy and make sure to think things over not once, not twice, but 100 fucking thousand times before making a big investment.