

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: \$\$\$ -- FREE TUTORIAL ON STOCK MARKET PROFITS. EARNED \$120,000 USD in 2016 ----- \$\$\$

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 12:50 pm

WARNING HUGE PICTURES, SMALL AMOUNT OF CASH, AND STOCK NET WORTH ONE OF MY STOCK TRADING ACCOUNTS.

MY SKYPE: live:mrguwophf (Make sure you know it's the real me before speaking and taking advice)

----- Long but worth it to read, how I made a considerable amount of money exchanging stocks. I am not typing this up to brag in any means, I am just tired of seeing people on this forum whom use methods like E-Whoring or scamming as a primary source of income, when you could be making 1000 times more, legitimately, with little to no work, that is if you have an intelligent brain and can take the time and effort to devote yourself into something MUCH more ETHICAL, PROFITABLE, and RESPECTABLE.

I am simply typing this on my free time, in hopes that this can help those who read it. If you thought this was a helpful, inspiring, or useless post, please let me know below in a reply and I will gladly answer ANY OF THE QUESTIONS YOU GUYS HAVE FOR ME. If this gets A CONSIDERABLE AMOUNT OF ATTENTION, I will spend much more time writing up a FREE tutorial, which is more in depth, on how to pick and chose your stocks and when to buy and sell them. Thank you for your time, to read and please do not hesitate to ask any questions you have in mind.

----- For starters, I have been in the stock market "business" or "game" whatever you want to perceive it as, for around 7-8 years. At first I was just using the Stock Market as investing purposes but that was way to slow and profits were never stable, let alone, the amount of money I would lose or gain was extremely MINISCULE compared to the costs and risks in which I was investing. This finally clicked in my head after so long that things needed to change or else I would continue living paycheck to paycheck, hustling whatever I could in order to make money to afford all of my bills and overcome my debt I had built up from student loans, multiple credit cards, medical bills... the list goes on. Last month I made over $27,247 USD flipping a select few stocks on a daily basis.

----- After a year or so of getting absolutely nowhere and investing my life savings with little to NO/ZERO return, I decided to change things around and try out a different method that I thought of based on the fact that long term investing just was not making me nearly the amount of profits I was expecting, compared to the stress and risks involved in doing so. Last year I have made over $120,000 USD. I am not very young, but I am in between the ages of 28-35 years old. I started my adventure the wrong way losing money and investing in long term, popular stocks, in which shares would cost in between $5,000 USD and $15,000 USD.

----- After quite some time, I've FINALLY figured out how to precisely pick my stocks, when to buy them and when to correctly sell them for profits that greatly exceeded my needs. This took me almost 2 and a half FULL years of trial and error. But it was well worth it, as now I am able to finally relax and enjoy life to its fullest potential, as all of you on this forum truly deserve.

----- I am willing to help people to some extent for free (how to decide which stocks to buy, provide basic information or answer any questions that are left out in this post, and more.) I will NOT be giving out my personal methods/stocks that I chose at ANY cost as I don't think there's a price to put on it, unless you have as much stock market experience as myself and can prove it, and want to work as a partnership. The experience and learning from my mistakes, was well worth it in fact, has now given me the proper knowledge and experience to profit on almost every trade I make. This still shocks not only myself, but my entire family, whom have witnessed every step of me starting from absolutely nothing, living pay check to paycheck, to rolling in anywhere from $75,000 to $180,000 USD per year. In NO way am I saying I am the "master" or "god" at this kind of exchanging but I would say I am above 90% of the people who exchange stocks when it comes to my TRUE profits/success rates in such an effortless, amazing journey that I think you should all explore if you get the chance..

----- Firstly, for those whom are considering trying their luck in the stock EMPIRE, I would suggest looking into stocks, let me rephrase that, RESEARCHING AND ANALYZING WITH PRECISION, and searching for cheaper stocks that fluctuate a considerable amount, what I mean by that is find a stock in which its price changes by at least 10-20% weekly. I would suggest starting with smaller penny stocks that are worth pennies or even FRACTIONS of pennies to begin with and MAXIMIZE profits in a short period of time, with little effort induced into your journey. The reason why this is so extremely successful is because when a stock worth $0.01, and it increases in value, it usually increases by 25% increments, which is insanely profitable, or insanely unprofitable depending on your ability to identify when to buy your stock or stocks, in which you researched and analyzed and watched CAREFULLY, at the correct time, and then finally when to sell them for a decent profit without being too greedy.

----- I would suggest based on my experience to find a stock/stocks that continuously fluctuates a considerable amount. Then watch it/them VERY CLOSELY for a few weeks or even months before investing a large portion of your money. I use an application on my phone to monitor my MANY stocks and monitor all of the price changes and study it for a few weeks to play it safe. I keep track in a physical notebook, or you can use a Office Excel table to log down daily increases and decreases of the stock/stocks you are monitoring before investing. Once you figure out the shares typical lowest price, and highest price, put some money (that you can afford to either profit or lose because it is always a risk..) (cont. from.. Put some money) into that stock when it is at/near the lowest price you have identified that it consistently drops to, before it starts to increase in price.

----- To play it safe, do not hold onto your shares until each shares price is close to a safe, profitable, price that you've figured out after analyzing that particular stock over a decent time period, before selling your shares (amount of the stock you own).

----- As stated above, I made $27,247 in the last 34 days. I invested in a stock that was worth fractions of a penny. I was able to flip it multiple times(if not hundreds of times within a 34 day period) (buying millions of shares at a safe, carefully decided low price, then posting a sell ALL offer for those same purchased shares for the decided high price that I was able to identify would be profitable enough for me to be happy, but not to be too greedy). This stock would change by 25%-50% daily and I was investing all the money I was profiting as well.

----- Moral of all I have explained above in a not so time consuming matter, I would suggest to those who are interested, check out the profitability of flipping stocks and do your research correctly or else this will not be something you will be successful in making outstanding profits with some, but not too much of a risk.

----- Always remember, NEVER invest what you are not willing to lose. I just felt the need to share my personal experience in hopes that it would inspire, or at least make some of you reconsider doing things like e-whoring, compulsively gambling game items or Bitcoin on websites that are created to profit from people who cannot stop playing their game which the house wins in a much greater fashion then the player does.

----- If you enjoyed this post, or learned anything from it, PLEASE do not be afraid to post below with your thoughts, thankfulness, or questions you might have for me. My skype is posted below a few times if anyone wishes to speak with me in private. Thank you for your time to read this entire post if you've made it this far, I wish you the best of luck in whatever you decide to do with your abilities and hope you all have a bright future.

----- Best regards, Mr Guwop
MY SKYPE: live:mrguwophf (Make sure you know it's the real me before speaking and taking advice)

Jaxxy - February 2, 2017, 1:11 pm

Damn this is crazy! Great job on raking in all that cash in 2016.

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 1:24 pm

(Feb 2, 2017 02:11 PM)Jaxxy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Damn this is crazy! Great job on raking in all that cash in 2016.

Thank you kind sir, hoping to have a much higher profit margin in 2017.

Eagerkid - February 2, 2017, 1:26 pm

Really hard to read the thread with the unappetizing colors. But hopefully you will be able to help some people. This would be better if it was in the investing section

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 1:28 pm

(Feb 2, 2017 02:26 PM)ihopeshe18 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Really hard to read the thread with the unappetizing colors. But hopefully you will be able to help some people. This would be better if it was in the investing section Investing section, will check this out. Thanks and I know it looks like shit.

Sta.ze - February 2, 2017, 2:30 pm

This was an interesting read. I've been thinking about stocks for some time now but just recently decided to invest into something. I'll definitely have to add you on skype.

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 2:33 pm

(Feb 2, 2017 03:30 PM)Captain GreenBean Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This was an interesting read. I've been thinking about stocks for some time now but just recently decided to invest into something. I'll definitely have to add you on skype.

My skype is being all fucked up right now, just made a new one. Let me know your skype username in a private message. make sure it is me who you are talking to before you decide to take any advice ...

??

Kyogo - February 2, 2017, 6:31 pm

What is the minimum amount of money I can start with? And what website do you use to trade?

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 8:47 pm

(Feb 2, 2017 07:31 PM)deivid725 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What is the minimum amount of money I can start with? And what website do you use to trade?

I currently use E*TRADE, But there are many other ones that can be used and that require less fees, etc. I just like E*TRADE because It's pretty user friendly and trustworthy in large amounts.

No?orious - February 2, 2017, 10:06 pm

Awesome tutorial mate. Was looking at getting into this recently, might be of some use. :)

Do you have a selective strategy on buying stocks? As in, something that fluctuates because of real life economic occurrences? Or is it just narrowing down a field of stocks that have a consistent up and down?

Heard it's a really risky venture to be in, so congratulations on your success! Look forward to seeing more ?

Krour - February 2, 2017, 10:16 pm

Thanks alot for sharing ut story with us . It is really inspiring

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 11:04 pm

(Feb 2, 2017 11:16 PM)Krour Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks alot for sharing ut story with us . It is really inspiring

You are welcome, glad you enjoyed.

(Feb 2, 2017 11:06 PM)?Notorious Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Awesome tutorial mate. Was looking at getting into this recently, might be of some use. :)

Do you have a selective strategy on buying stocks? As in, something that fluctuates because of real life economic occurrences? Or is it just narrowing down a field of stocks that have a consistent up and down?

Heard it's a really risky venture to be in, so congratulations on your success! Look forward to seeing more ?

It can be risky, but if done correctly it is not as bad as it may seem. I do have a selective strategy, takes lots of studying.

No?orious - February 2, 2017, 11:30 pm

Thanks for the reply.

Been hesitant because majority of things I see are US based, I'm from Australia and haven't seen much regarding stocks down here. Best of luck for the future in the stocks game, might bounce some questions off you one day! :)

Wolf of Wall Street - February 2, 2017, 11:35 pm

(Feb 3, 2017 12:30 AM)?Notorious Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks for the reply.

Been hesitant because majority of things I see are US based, I'm from Australia and haven't seen much regarding stocks down here. Best of luck for the future in the stocks game, might bounce some questions off you one day! :)

Not a problem buddy, best of luck!

MrPip - February 3, 2017, 8:45 am

Respect from a fellow Swing trader. Volatility and a positive profit factor is all you really need in this game.

Wolf of Wall Street - February 5, 2017, 6:11 am

(Feb 3, 2017 09:45 AM)MrPip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Respect from a fellow Swing trader. Volatility and a positive profit factor is all you really need in this game.

Indeed, ??

Malthael - February 5, 2017, 7:42 am

Awesome guide for starters. I'm also looking into pursuing with stocks and bonds. Maybe you can help me in the future OP :)

ÇdnîS Lu?i? - February 6, 2017, 5:20 pm

Nice earnings! What do you enjoy trading most?

thejeave7 - February 8, 2017, 12:38 pm

(Feb 2, 2017 01:50 PM)Mr Guwop Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) ----- I would suggest based on my experience to find a stock/stocks that continuously fluctuates a considerable amount. Then watch it/them VERY CLOSELY for a few weeks or even months before investing a large portion of your money. I use an application on my phone to monitor my MANY stocks and monitor all of the price changes and study it for a few weeks to play it safe. I keep track in a physical notebook, or you can use a Office Excel table to log down daily increases and decreases of the stock/stocks you are monitoring before investing. Once you figure out the shares typical lowest price, and highest price, put some money (that you can afford to either profit or lose because it is always a risk..) (cont. from.. Put some money) into that stock when it is at/near the lowest price you have identified that it consistently drops to, before it starts to increase in price.

So all in all it seems to me that you "gamble" and just got lucky. You cannot predict the stock market nor can I. I think nobody can, unless you got insider informations and know things ahead of the market. Could you explain that to me? Like, basically you say, just watch the stocks very closely, take notes on the current value of the stock for a long period of time and then you can "predict" the future. I think, nobody can, what do you think?

KingRy - February 9, 2017, 3:28 pm

Hey man, I'm interested in this. I'll message you on Skype

Wolf of Wall Street - February 10, 2017, 9:43 pm

(Feb 9, 2017 04:28 PM)idubbbztv Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hey man, I'm interested in this. I'll message you on Skype sure, ill be online all night. Let em know if you need help.

Kelbor-Hal - February 12, 2017, 10:35 am

I will read it soon then I will have little more time. Even if this trading and investment (in general terms, speaking about binary trading and bots specifically) is just one big scam. I mean, entire google search history is full of false articles. Even ones who are doing analysis and providing a lot of links are providing links to nothing more than to scam sites. I especially are careful about such claims. If a person is making such money then only a fool would share its secrets thus saturating marked. Or if he truly wants to help others, then question arises why he cannot help kickstart newcomers if he is so successful and sure of his method.

I'm sorry if I'm rude to the author, it is just general observation. Though, coming from eastern world, my values and worldview might be so different that there can be some misunderstandings. Communists after all are collective people, I still cannot fully comprehend the greed and selfishness of the western world. ;)

yoyoyo999 - February 12, 2017, 3:31 pm

What resources do you recommended for researching and analyzing flippable stocks

Wolf of Wall Street - February 13, 2017, 12:42 am

(Feb 12, 2017 04:31 PM)yoyoyo999 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What resources do you recommended for researching and analyzing flippable stocks

Time is the NUMBER ONE MOST IMPORTANT resource when researching/analyzing and flipping stocks. Keep a Microsoft Office Excel Sheet and watch 10-20 stocks that fluctuate a large amount, with high increases and decreases. Watch all your stocks VERY closely and write down statistics and even do some research on the company you are looking to invest in. Be smart, not greedy. Let me know if you need any more in-depth help,

My skype: live:MrguwopHF

edon - February 13, 2017, 5:29 am

(Feb 8, 2017 01:38 PM)thejeave7 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So all in all it seems to me that you "gamble" and just got lucky. You cannot predict the stock market nor can I. I think nobody can, unless you got insider informations and know things ahead of the market. Could you explain that to me? Like, basically you say, just watch the stocks very closely, take notes on the current value of the stock for a long period of time and then you can "predict" the future. I think, nobody can, what do you think? lol jealous cuuunt

Wolf of Wall Street - February 13, 2017, 6:54 pm

(Feb 13, 2017 06:29 AM)edon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) lol jealous cuuunt

Yes, the stock market is ALWAYS a gamble. But I watch my 20-50 stocks EXTREMELY CLOSELY and do in depth analysis on the businesses, news, and use Microsoft Office Excel to keep track of the stocks I am currently watching, figuring out exactly when those stocks are at a rock bottom price, then investing when the slope starts going back up.

Feel free to teamview me and I will blow your mind.

Joseph Lane - February 13, 2017, 7:29 pm

Very nice tutorial, I never got involved with penny stocks thinking the risk wasn't worth the reward but I see your point. Wondering, what app do you use to track daily stock prices? I've started using excel but it isn't time efficient. Thanks for the tut and might contact you on skype in the future.

Gizmo - February 14, 2017, 2:35 am

This was an awesome read. Congratulations on what you have made so far. Let 2017 be a good year for you too.

I'm a beginner in investments and want to learn as much as possible. It's so interesting.

Olympus - February 14, 2017, 2:57 am

I would like some help man, love to get in on your knowledge i recently turned 18 and am now able to invest in stocks :)

Wolf of Wall Street - February 17, 2017, 7:46 am

(Feb 14, 2017 03:57 AM)Rexicon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would like some help man, love to get in on your knowledge i recently turned 18 and am now able to invest in stocks :)

Sure thing sir, message me your questions.

