Hello World!

I am new to this site and so far like what I have seen. I am somewhat knowledgeable with hacking, I know the ins and outs of computers routers and switches. I am learning to code, on my own time and wouldnt mind a few pointers. Doxing is one of my favorite things to do. However I looked to see what this site offers on that and theres only one tool I like. It was created by a guy on this site named Drizzy763763. Not a bad tool, cant complain since its the only one ive found that works for the most part. However I am trying to make my own tool. Hope I have a great experience with this site. Thank You!
