Thread: Skyrim \(solo game\) online mod?

ze-slade - February 5, 2017, 1:55 am

Anyone use the mod yet to play with any friends? I just set up my server tonight(hosted on my pc) It took a little time because I've never modded skyrim before but I think setting it up within 30 minutes or so is pretty good timing, they ended up bailing once they got in for like 4 mins since it was around 4:15 am here(nearly 5am at the time of writing this thread now) But it should be loads of fun, nobody complained about lag, just crashes every now and then. I'm probably a bit late to this party, but thought I'd ask and share.

If anyone is interested in the mod: <http://www.nexusmods.com/skyrim/mods/67038/>?

Tutorial I used for the server:

An online mod? Never knew something like this is out there, but it probably won't work if you have like 200 offline mods installed right? lol

Seems that offline mods aren't a problem, but this mod does break most everything in the game so you can run around with your friends but that's all for now.

I don't know, but your friend will have to have all the mods you have, plus it could possibly cause some incompatibilities so troubleshooting might be a pain.

I remember the exact same mod for Oblivion, really wish it would reach a point where you could actually burn through the story and shit together.
