He dealt with me via Skype.

He told me he has 3 x £50 psn codes

I paid him btc and he said to wait for 1 confirmation and then he blocked me on skype, ignored me on hf. I had dealt with him earlier for other psn codes and he didnt scam then. He also changed his reputation on me. He basically scammed me £75 BTC.

In addition, He dealt successfully the first time with a small code because he had intentions to scam a big amount. For further proof. The admins can check how he has altered my positive reputation to neutral despite me going first and sending btc. He is also guilty as he has me on ignore.

Damn man. I'm sorry to hear that you were scammed, it must suck. In order for this dispute to be accurate, you need to include some pictures of how you were given his Skype and prove that he is the one who told you this is his Skype and that Monk is the person behind the messaging & deals.

It'll help your case.

Why didn't you use a middleman or even go first? You should have invited him to deal with you on # if you're very big over there. This user is relatively new, not sure why you'd go first with him.

Sorry for your loss but I find this kind of funny. 5 people and myself and reported Monk for scamming with a lot of evidence but nothing has happened to him Imfao. Kids probably rich now with all the money he has scammed. Guess thats the new thing on hackforums now days. Build you rep then just scam since you wont get banned.
