

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Kaspersky VS ESET NOD32

sIMON - February 11, 2017, 7:14 am

Hello there everyone on HF, it's a simple question which one do you think is better?

Kaspersky or ESET NOD32?

btw I'm not sure if this is the right section im sorry if its not....

Yin Yang - February 11, 2017, 7:16 am

I prefer ESET NOD32> Kaspersky

JELLY?IsH - February 11, 2017, 7:17 am

(Feb 11, 2017 08:14 AM)Siimon. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hello there everyone on HF, it's a simple question which one do you think is better?

Kaspersky or ESET NOD32?

btw I'm not sure if this is the right section im sorry if its not....

I recommend using ESET NOD32. It's been a while since I installed it and I can't say anything bad about it.

Read this review, they explained it all.

The.Businessman - February 11, 2017, 7:30 am

Eset Nod32 is better,

Reasons :

- Free License codes are scattered around the internet, I just got a 3 month code for free.
- It's Cheap (5 year codes selling for $5 on HF, PM my buddy @Republica for info)
- It Doesn't keep pestering you and asking whether to allow each program or not, like kaspersky(Seriously, An antivirus is supposed to know about programs)
- It's silent (It runs in the background and silently does all the updates)

urbandesi - February 15, 2017, 1:43 am

Eset is better then KP

Captain Steve Rogers - February 15, 2017, 2:15 am

I prefer ESET Internet Security.

Codefuser - February 15, 2017, 2:42 am

Kaspersky's HIPs is better, and ESET's scantime is better. That's about it.

GruntStyl - February 16, 2017, 6:59 pm

ESET in my opinion. All personal preference though.

Captain Steve Rogers - February 19, 2017, 10:09 pm

(Feb 15, 2017 03:42 AM)Codefuser Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Kaspersky's HIPs is better, and ESET's scantime is better. That's about it.

I have hears kasper eats too much resource, true?