Thread: [\[\$5\] Unlimited Free Uber Rides Method](#)

skelly76 - February 13, 2017, 9:10 pm

Somehow people buy all these methods for crazy prices so I'll give you the best one for a cheap ass price. Nothing to do with referrals. This is the easiest and simplest method in existence. It's not too private but I mean if people are still out here buying expensive methods... just get this.

Requirements:

Phone number (Huge plus if you have more than one, if you have access to a family member's number who doesn't use Uber, this is for you) (Oh and also if you have more than one number you can obviously fuck around with referrals for even more extra rides)

Payment Method PP/CC (Won't get charged, I also include a way to not use your personal payment stuffs)

Edit: Stop asking if you need anything else, I would obviously list it here. You guys have obviously bought too many HF products lol.

Works in all countries, however not worth buying if you're from India.

It's not an exploit or anything. No social engineering required either.

I don't ask for vouches so sorry the thread isn't littered with them like every other HF product.

UPDATE: Partnered with Lucio to sell the ultimate pack of Uber methods.

Oh didn't think about that, I suppose it's possible the code is only for US.

Honestly not sure, I'll change it.

Nope, just one. If you have more than 1 this method becomes like hella valuable for you. Like if you have access to a family member's phone who doesn't use Uber, this method is for you.

User oop'd me a vouch copy.

Never thought of doing it this way for some reason and it works perfectly!

You should be receiving $30 everytime and its quite fast.

I'm almost positive this works in EU as there isn't any reason it shouldn't. I'll refund if it doesn't work though, but I mean you'll have to prove it.

I'm trying to find a promotional code that gives first rides for free in India. At the moment I can't find any.

If you want you can contact support and ask them for a first ride free code for India. If you get it then it will work for you, just come back and grab this.

Like suppose you will be providing us with xyz coupon code that is worth xy$ (varies from country to country) and this amount will be discounted from our total bill.

Or you mean to say any irrespective of any amount, we pay 0 ?

P.S: For Indian, the max is 75 INR i.e 1.12 USD

In the US, Uber gives a promo code for up to $30 for a ride. So as long as your ride doesn't exceed that amount, it's free. However, in India and some other countries the promo codes aren't that high in value so this method is not exactly worth it.

The method let's you repeat using promo codes, but if the promo codes in your area aren't that high in "price" then this method is kind of dumb. It's just not practical unless the promo code gives a decent amount of travel time for free.

Yeah, got it what exactly the method is :) Only downside I see is that people have to create new account each time.

I'd rather create a new account than pay $10 for a ride.

India doesn't seem to have any promotional codes worth using so unless you find a promo code you think is worth reusing then it should work.

What's an unregistered number? I'm pretty sure Uber checks to see if the number is registered to a carrier of some sort. No need for a rooted phone.

Listed requirements in thread guys why does everyone keep asking. Literally simple method without any weird shit to it.

This does work in Australia, but there aren't any promo codes for more than up to $5. Technically if you use Uber a few times after buying you'll still make your money back, but a $5 ride is really short. For you it would just be a constant $5 discount method. Still reasonable for a $5 method so your call if you want it.
