Danna ga Nani wo Itteiru ka Wakaranai Ken

Synopsis (Courtesy of MAL):

Quote: Though they couldn't be any more different, love has managed to blossom between Hajime Tsunashi, a hardcore otaku who shuts himself in at home while making a living off his blog, and his wife Kaoru—a hard-working office lady who, in contrast, is fairly ordinary, albeit somewhat of a crazy drunk. As this unlikely couple discovers, love is much more than just a first kiss or a wedding; the years that come afterward in the journey of marriage brings with it many joys as well as challenges.

Whether due to their quirky personalities or the peculiar people surrounding them, Hajime and Kaoru find themselves caught up in a variety of baffling and ridiculous antics. But despite the struggles they face, the love that ties them together spurs them to move forward and strive to become better people in order to bring their partner happiness.

For anyone seeking an under-1-hour, comedic anime this one surely fits the bill. The unusual married couple of an otaku, stay-at-home husband and a hard-working wife make for an interesting duo as they go on with their daily lives. The story is straight forward, often pokes fun at other anime, and hits with you a few well placed laughs. Characters are likable in the general sense, art and sound are decent, and this anime isn't afraid to make you feel uncomfortable at times. ;) Overall a very nice anime, not much else to say other than see it for yourselves!
