Our World Is Expanding—Over 80 More Pokémon and New Features Are Coming!

[Video: <https://youtu.be/R04u9E5INTI>]

Trainers,

Chikorita, Cyndaquil, Totodile, and many more Pokémon are nearly here! Starting later this week, you'll have the opportunity to catch more than 80 Pokémon originally discovered in the Johto region in the Pokémon Gold and Pokémon Silver video games. We've also implemented some new features to enhance your Pokémon GO experience.

Additional Pokémon: More than 80 Pokémon that were originally discovered in the Johto region in the Pokémon Gold and Pokémon Silver video games, as well as Pokémon with gender-specific variations, will start rolling out in Pokémon GO.

New Evolutions: There are now more opportunities to evolve your Pokémon in Pokémon GO than ever before. Some Pokémon originally discovered in the Kanto region will soon be able to evolve—into Pokémon that inhabit the Johto region! Be on the lookout for new Evolution items at PokéStops, which you'll need to evolve some Pokémon.

New Encounter Gameplay: When you encounter Pokémon in the wild, don't be surprised if they react in new ways as you're trying to catch them. You'll also notice the addition of new item carousels that allow you to select Berries and Poké Balls directly from the encounter screen. Hone your skills and catch those elusive Pokémon!

New Berries: Pokémon enjoy eating Berries, and you'll have the opportunity to get two new Berries by spinning the Photo Disc at PokéStops—Nanab Berries and Pinap Berries! Giving a Pokémon a Nanab Berry will slow its movements, making it easier to catch. The Pinap Berry doubles the amount of Candy you'll receive if your next catch attempt succeeds.

New Avatars and an Expanded Wardrobe: Now you'll be able to give your avatar a complete upgrade! Customize your look with a whole new selection of hats, shirts, pants, and other items.

Be sure to use the hashtag #PokemonGO on Twitter to share your experiences as you explore your local neighborhoods with family and friends. We can't wait to see the Pokémon you catch!

Can't wait for this, hopefully the game will come back to life in the next few months

Gives me another reason to just bot up my non-banned accounts then go AFK until next Gen release.

The amount of players died drastically. I remember going to a 3 lure stop around midnight with 5 friends during the game's peak, ran into a crowd of people within the course of 6 hours in that one spot alone.. During a weekday

Out of curiosity i passed by that same area during the evening this passed weekend. Empty lmao. Rip Pokemon Go

The very minimal amount of people going to go back for this will just quit again in a week.

Yes plus it's cold as fuck outside now. The Sholden have done Somthing the first few months.

This game was a one hit wonder I think isle - February 16, 2017, 4:14 am rip, do people still play this?

Zaegallen - February 16, 2017, 8:55 am

I'm waiting for the newer generations, hope they come out sometime next year because catching the same pokemons is boring

Pain - February 16, 2017, 8:56 am

Did any rare pokemon be released yet?

If you are talking about the legendary birds, no.

Egregious Jr. - February 17, 2017, 6:43 am

What the hell; people actually still play this shit?

I think most people are waiting for a battle overhaul, pvp options and trading to be put in place.

Crowley - February 24, 2017, 7:54 pm

I might start playing again just for the new pokemon
